Advancing Collaboration Theory John C. Morris, Katrina Miller-Stevens, 2016 The term collaboration is widely used but not clearly understood or operationalized. However, collaboration is playing an increasingly important role between and across public, nonprofit, and for-profit sectors. Collaboration has become a hallmark in both intragovernmental and intergovernmental relationships. As collaboration scholarship rapidly emerges, it diverges into several directions, resulting in confusion about what collaboration is and what it can be used to accomplish. This book provides much-needed insight into existing ideas and theories of collaboration, advancing a revised theoretical model and accompanying typologies that further our understanding of collaborative processes within the public sector. Organized into three parts, each chapter presents a different theoretical approach to public problems, valuing the collective insights that result from honoring many individual perspectives. Case studies in collaboration split across three levels of government offer additional perspectives on unanswered questions in the literature. Contributions are made by authors from a variety of backgrounds, including an attorney, a career educator, a federal executive, a human resource administrator, a police officer, a self-employed entrepreneur, as well as scholars of public administration and public policy. Drawing upon the individual experiences offered by these perspectives, the book emphasizes the commonalities of collaboration. It is from this common ground, the shared experiences forged among seemingly disparate interactions, that advances in collaboration theory arise. Advancing Collaboration Theory offers a unique compilation of collaborative models and typologies that enhance the existing understanding of public sector collaboration.

Collaborative Practitioners, Collaborative Schools Marleen Carol Pugach, Lawrence J. Johnson, 1995 A School Board Guide to Leading Successful Schools Stephanie Hirsh, Anne Foster, 2013-09-18 The go-to resource for school board members' greatest challenges. For districts striving to improve student academic performance, professional learning at all levels can make a crucial difference. This invaluable guide addresses the top challenges experienced by nearly every school board and shows how professional learning can assist in overcoming these challenges and support positive changes. Two influential education leaders and experienced board trustees present an approach that helps school board members form their own professional learning community and become a stronger, more productive team. Aligned with Learning Forward's current Standards for Professional Learning, developed in collaboration with and supported by more than 18 national organizations, including the National School Boards Association, this resource enables board members to learn from case studies focused on 12 critical board-level decisions, including hiring a new superintendent, resource allocation, compensation planning, and more. Deepen your understanding of leadership and actions that advance school success and benefit the wider community. Know when, where, and how to use professional learning to improve individual and systemic performance Benefit from best practices and tools developed to support effective decisions and successful implementation of major initiatives Turn to this resource to assist with your continuous improvement journey and achieve greater success for all schools School boards play a pivotal role in creating a climate of learning in a school system This book offers practical advice to enable school boards to fulfill this critical aspect of their public leadership role It is a road map for action and continuous improvement for every school board Thomas J Gentzel Executive Director National School Boards Association This book is an excellent tool for the collaborative work of school boards and school personnel The activities encourage the collaboration and conversation that support continuous improvement in education Lisa Casto Director of Curriculum and Staff Development
