Sproull, 1990-03-09 Provides new ways for both researchers and managers to think about technology's role in people's organizational lives showing its impact on individuals groups and the organization as a whole Includes original papers from leading scholars to show how new technology requires organizations to make fundamental changes American Economists of the Late Twentieth Century Warren J. Samuels, 1996 American Economists of the Late Twentieth Century is a collection of essays on the work of 22 contemporary US economists The essays summarize place in perspective and appraise the work of a diverse array of accomplished scholars whose writings represent the best the most promising and the most innovative in the US The economists whose work is discussed include Samuel Bowles and Herbert Gintis Paul Davidson Nancy Folbre Robert H Frank Robert Heilbroner David Kahneman and

Amos Tversky Paul Krugman William Lazonick Gregg Lewis Richard R Nelson and Sidney G Winter Mancur Olson Nathan Rosenberg Thomas Schelling Vernon Smith Robert A Solo Joseph Stiglitz Richard Thaler Lester Thurow and Oliver E Williamson The emphasis of the collection is on both the quality and diversity of the work of different ways of doing economics as it is presently practised Warren J Samuels has brought together a series of original essays written by economists who are distinguished in their own right Historians of economic thought methodologists general economists and specialists in the fields represented by the subjects will welcome American Economists of the Late Twentieth Century as a significant contribution to our understanding of contemporary American economic scholarship Competitive Advantage

on the Shop Floor William Lazonick, 1990 William Lazonick explores how technological change has interacted with the organization of work with major consequences for national competitiveness and industrial leadership Looking at Britain the United States and Japan from the nineteenth century to the present he explains changes in their status as industrial superpowers Lazonick stresses the importance for industrial leadership of cooperative relations between employers and shop floor workers Such relations permit employers to use new technologies to their maximum potential which in turn transforms the high fixed costs inherent in these technologies into low unit costs and large market shares Cooperative relations can also lead employers to invest in the skills of workers themselves skills that enable shop floor workers to influence quality as well as quantity of production To build cooperative shop floor relations successful employers have been willing to pay workers higher wages than they could have secured elsewhere in the economy They have also been willing to offer workers long term employment security These policies Lazonick argues have not come at the expense of profits but rather have been a precondition for making profits Focusing particularly on the role of labor management relations in fostering flexible mass production in Japan since the 1950s Lazonick criticizes those economists and politicians who in the face of the Japanese challenge would rely on free markets alone to restore the international competitiveness of industry in Britain and the United States The Development of Machines in Production Arthur Serner, 1927 Bibliographic Guide to Business and Economics New York Public Library. Research Libraries, 1976 Science and Technology Policy and the Organization of Research in the German Democratic Republic Unesco, 1985 Este estudio est estructurado en seis partes 1a caracter sticas pol ticas y econ micas de la Rep blica Democr tica Alemana 2a desarrollo hist rico de la ciencia y la tecnolog a 3a objetivos de la pol tica nacional de ciencia y tecnolog a de la Rep blica Democr tica Alemana 4a estructuras institucionales para la organizaci n de la investigaci n y el desarrollo 5a financiaci n e investigaci n 6a recursos humanos en ciencia y tecnolog a Science for the People, 1973 Technology and Enterprise in a Historical Perspective Pierangelo Maria Toninelli, 1992 This book presents an interdisciplinary analysis of the dynamics of technologies and corporate organizations over time and across countries A general interpretation is followed by a detailed inquiry into a particular sector chemicals and across sections in a particular country Italy The empirical case studies are introduced by broad theoretical and historical sections which highlight the general characteristics of technological change in contemporary economies the interplay between technological innovation imitation and economic growth The links between technology competitiveness and forms of corporate organization are also examined as are the changing boundaries between markets and activities of production and innovation internalized within corporate structures Given this interpretative framework economists and historians develop links between observation based generalizations and theoretical propositions on some basic features of the evolution of technologies industrial structures and institutions shaping socio economic change Regulation Theory and the Crisis of Capitalism: Country studies Bob Jessop,2001 This text is part of a series of five volumes which offers a comprehensive overview of the regulation approach to capitalism and its crisis tendencies Edited by a major British contributor to the approach the volumes contain not only key theoretical and empirical works from French regulationists but also representative work from other regulation schools and scholars They also feature major critiques of the approach Man & Development ,1982 The Development of Models of Technology and Work Organisation with Information and Communications Technologies Robin Williams,1988 Daily Report ,1975-02
