Missiles Of October:

The Missiles of October Robert Smith Thompson, 1992 Starting with the unprecedented political machine dominated by Joe Kennedy that pushed JFK into the White House Thompson recreates the climate of anti Communist hysteria political one upsmanship and dynastic ambitions that infused the Kennedy administration particularly their obsession with Communist Cuba and Fidel Castro That obsession found its lightning rod when Kennedy learned that the Soviets were placing missiles in Cuba in fact Thompson presents evidence to suggest that Kennedy knew of the missiles by March 1962 well before the official warning Moreover as Thompson goes on to argue Kennedy appears to have been planning a full scale invasion of Cuba scheduled for late 1962 from which he pulled back only when the potential cost in American lives became clear Nor was the resolution to the crisis the unalloyed victory for the U S that has always been portrayed In secret negotiations Robert Kennedy pledged to Soviet ambassador Dobrynin that the U S

The Other Missiles of October Philip Nash, 2000-11-09

Shedding important new light on the history of the Cold War Philip Nash tells the story of what the United States gave up to help end the Cuban missile crisis of 1962 By drawing on documents only recently declassified he shows that one of President Kennedy's compromises with the Soviets involved the removal of Jupiter missiles from Italy and Turkey an arrangement concealed from both the American public and the rest of the NATO allies Nash traces the entire history of the Jupiters and explores why the United States offered these nuclear missiles which were capable of reaching targets in the Soviet Union to its European allies after the launch of Sputnik He argues that despite their growing doubts both Eisenhower and Kennedy proceeded with the deployment of the missiles because they felt that cancellation would seriously damage America's credibility with its allies and the Soviet Union The Jupiters subsequently played a far more significant role in Khrushchev's 1962 decision to deploy his missiles in Cuba in U S deliberations during the ensuing missile crisis and in the resolution of events in Cuba than most existing histories have supposed

Pricilla Gonzales, 2022-08-12 The coverage contained in these files are of events deliberations and actions usually outside of the scope of the jurisdiction and responsibilities of the attorney general However Robert Kennedy's special relationship as both the brother of and special advisor to President Kennedy made him the closest man to JFK during the Cuban missile crisis The materials include papers memorandums correspondence reports notes doodles hand written material accounts of executive committee meetings and notes on private meetings with President Kennedy Some of the questions that are answered Why did Soviet leader Khrushchev take the risk of deploying nuclear missiles on Cuba knowing the Americans would almost certainly find out and could not possibly let it stand What was discussed by President Kennedy's so called executive committee a.k.a. The Silent Guns of Two Octobers Theodore Voorhees,2021-09-27 The Silent Guns of Two Octobers uses new as well as previously under appreciated documentary evidence to link the Cuban Missile Crisis to the Checkpoint Charlie tank standoff to achieve the impossible craft a new thoughtful original analysis of a political showdown everyone thought they knew everything about Ultimately the book concludes that much of the Cold War rhetoric the leaders employed was mere posturing in reality neither had any intention of starting a nuclear war Theodore Voorhees reexamines Khrushchev s and Kennedy s leadership decision and rhetoric in light of the new documentary evidence available Voorhees examines the impact of John F Kennedy s domestic political concerns about his upcoming first midterm elections on his handling of the Cuban Missile Crisis through his use of back channel dealings with Khrushchev during the lead up to the crisis and in the closing days when the two leaders managed to reach a settlement

John F Kennedy and Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev prepared for the possibility of nuclear war While neither man wanted a war and understood the potential consequences the situation was not merely in their hands Khrushchev faced pressure from Soviets to take a hardline stance against the U S while Kennedy faced the real possibility of a military coup if he did not follow the strong recommendations of his military advisors to destroy the missiles As Attorney General Robert Kennedy said The 10 or 12 people who participated in all these discussions were bright and energetic people We had perhaps amongst the most able in the country and if any one of a half a dozen of them were president the world would have been very likely plunged into catastrophic war Read more about the history of this short crisis in this book HistoryCaps is an imprint of BookCaps Study Guides With each book a brief period of history is recapped We publish a wide array of topics from baseball and music to science and philosophy so check our growing catalogue regularly to see our newest books The JFK Assassination Debates Michael L.
