Mission To Metlakatla:

Mission to Metlakatla Elaine Wentworth, 2013-11 Records the missionary work of a nineteenth century Englishman who was sent to civilize the Tsimshians a savage tribe of Alaskan Indians and who spent a lifetime protecting and helping his adopted people in their endeavor to adjust to the modern world Mission Life, 1879 Mission Life; Or Home and Foreign Church Work, 1879 The Inside Passage to Alaska, 1792-1920 William Watson Woollen, 1924 The Heavens Are Changing Susan Neylan, 2003 A study of Protestant missionization among the Tsimshianic speaking peoples of the North Pacific Coast of British Columbia during the latter half of the nineteenth century The Spirit of Missions, 1905 Includes the proceedings of the annual meeting of the Society William Duncan Edward Delor Kohlstedt, 1957 New Histories for Old Theodore Binnema, Susan Neylan, 2011-11-01 Scholarly depictions of the history of Aboriginal people in Canada have changed dramatically since the 1970s when Arthur J Skip Ray entered the field New Histories for Old examines this transformation while extending the scholarship on Canada's Aboriginal history in new directions The collection combines essays by prominent senior historians geographers and anthropologists with contributions by new voices in these fields The chapters reflect the core themes studied by Ray himself including Native struggles for land and resources under colonialism the fur trade Indian policy and treaties mobility and migration disease and well being and Native newcomer relations This book sheds new light on the history of scholarship on Canada's Aboriginal past and the leading role played by one of Canada's foremost historians It also provides a fascinating snapshot of the lines of inquiry pursued by emerging scholars in the field New Histories for Old is a major contribution to understanding Native newcomer relations Native struggles for land and resources under colonialism Indian policy and treaties mobility and migration disease and well being and questions about doing Native history It will appeal to scholars and students in history Native studies geography anthropology and related fields Interior, 1918 American Indians in the Marketplace Brian C. Hosmer, 1999 Although it is usually assumed that Native Americans have lost their cultural identity through modernization some peoples have proved otherwise Brian Hosmer explores what happened when cultural identity and economic opportunity converged among two Native American communities that used community based industries to both generate income and sustain their cultures Comparing a lumber business run by the Menominees of Wisconsin and a salmon cannery established by British Columbian and Alaskan Tsimshian communities known as Metlakatla Hosmer reveals how each tribe responded to market and political forces over fifty years Hosmer's innovative ethnohistory recounts how these Indians used the marketplace to maintain their distinctiveness to a far greater extent than those who became wage earners in the white man's world Hosmer shows that by selectively incorporating elements of American capitalism into their cultural lives the Menominees and Metlakatlans came to view modernization less as a threat to their tribal life than as a means for maintaining their independence These tribes embraced the same market accused of hastening the demise of native societies and became comparatively successful in American terms

even as they both honored fundamental values and forged new cultural identities Over time these peoples came to understand how the market worked recognized that the broader economy operated according to market principles and learned how to adjust to it Hosmer reveals how their strategies of purposeful modernization brought relative economic independence and sometimes the respect and cooperation of local and federal governments how it helped chart a middle course between unchecked individuality and a communal ethos that might stifle economic development and how economic development and cultural values ultimately affected one another American Indians in the Marketplace is a story of adaptation that acknowledges the hardship and suffering common to most Indian white contact while emphasizing the benefits of selective modernization accompanied by a constant re invention of tradition It questions the victim thesis of Native American history and shows that native peoples can meet the challenges of surviving in the larger world Mission Studies ,1897
