Moa Philip Temple, Chris Gaskin, 1985 Recreates the life of the moa a huge flightless bird that lived several thousand years ago in New Zealand

Moa Philip Temple, 1985 Following the life of one bird describes how the moa searched for food survived natural disasters found mates and cared for their young Also discusses their eventual extinction and includes a summary of facts about the moa

Moa Philip Temple, 2009 Describes the life of one male moa Pouakai

Chance Is A Fine Thing Philip Temple, 2014-10-03 A compelling and thoughtful memoir about a significant figure on New Zealand's literary and natural landscape The stories that I think worth telling are of how as a young man I left home on the other side of the world half a century ago and took the chance to become a New Zealander More of becoming a New Zealand writer now able to look back over 50 years and relate not only what happened to me of how I grew up but also something of how the country has grown and changed It is about my developing relationship with my country and some of its people As Philip Temple explains in his preface this is about his life and the country he chose to call home His memoir shows how he made this decision how he left England at a young age and how he came to explore and love this country scaling its mountains and writing its stories New Zealand has always pulled him back despite adventures overseas exploring previously unknown regions of the world sailing in exciting waters trailing through Europe and a long love affair with Berlin Despite all this New Zealand became and remains his country In an honest and remarkably diverse appraisal of his life he reveals his personal and professional relationships including his search for his father the failure of his marriage difficult times working for the Listener and his campaigning for MMP It is also a fascinating account of how he has made a living as a full time writer Compelling thoughtful and moving this is an important view of the last fifty years

Prodigious Birds Atholl Anderson, 2003-10-30 Prodigious Birds brings together the entire field of moa related research some 150 years of enquiry The moa was a large flightless bird hunted into extinction by the Maori tribes of New Zealand before the arrival of Europeans Atholl Anderson brings an historical perspective to the development of moa research and its formative debates analytical methods and results reviewing evidence from palaeontology biology archaeology ethnography and history

White Shadows Philip Temple, 2012-12-01 Mysterious and evocative tantalising and erotic this unique novel explores the qualities of love and obsession Marienbad the central European spa resort is immortalised in the romantic imagination for its legendary doomed love affairs Goethe and Ulrike von Levetzow Chopin and Marie Wodzinska Edward VII and Mizzi Pistl Franz Kafka and Felice Bauer In a Marienbad winter within its ambience of history and allusion theatre and illusion a modern pair of lovers look for the cure that eluded all their famous precursors Echoing the d j vu of Alain Resnais classic movie Last Year at Marienbad they track the pristine forest snows in pursuit of answers to questions that all lovers have sought throughout history White Shadows is enormously satisfying a beautiful mood piece perfectly evoking the aimless existence of those who seek but never seem to be satisfied in a town with ever present reminders that death and decay lie in wait for the
