Mobilizing for Transformation: How Campuses Are Preparing for the Knowledge Age James L. Morrison, Donald M. Norris, 1997-09-19 This volume of New Directions for Institutional Research provides practical insight and guidance to campus leaders who are attempting to accelerate the transformation of their campuses to meet the challenges and opportunities of the Knowledge Age. This insight is drawn from case studies and vignettes from nearly twenty campuses that have succeeded in leveraging the forces of transformation on their campuses. They have achieved this leverage through multifaceted change initiatives that involve a collection of actions 1 developing vision and strategy for the Knowledge Age 2 conducting campuswide dialogue on change 3 dramatically enhancing information technology infrastructure and skills 4 redirecting existing institutional processes 5 crafting new learning processes and products and 6 changing the campus culture. The volume concludes with a presentation of the five families of basic competencies necessary for particular academic programs or campuses to succeed in the twenty first century 1 planning and change processes operating at Knowledge Age standards of timeliness customization and flexibility 2 advanced IT infrastructure and skills in its use 3 a new generation of tools for learning interactivity certification of mastery and personal productivity 4 new financial paradigms and 5 supercharged strategic alliances. This is the 94th issue of the quarterly journal New Directions for Institutional Research. Performance Richard L. Alfred, Nathan Harris, Kathryn Thirolf, James Webb, 2012-06-18 Understanding performance requires asking fundamental questions about the nature and purpose of an organization. What is its business? Whom does it serve? What do stakeholders want and expect? What do they get? How does the organization conceive of and measure results? How do stakeholders feel about results the organization is generating? Answers to these questions require a framework for analysis comprised of three essential ingredients stakeholders results and improvement strategies. Organizational performance is given segmental treatment in literature and research. Numerous articles and books have been written on related topics such as outcomes assessment organizational effectiveness and cost benefit analysis but each approaches the subject from a singular perspective. In this book organizational performance is viewed through multiple lenses so that its different dimensions can be understood and appreciated. The view is broad and far reaching in the beginning and specific toward the end where actions organizations can take to improve performance are described. Recognizing that performance is context specific colleges and universities are used in this book as the medium for examining performance. This book is written for current and future leaders in profit and non profit organizations who find scholarly books unimaginative protracted and detached from practice. Senior executives while familiar with many of the basic concepts will find exceptions to current conceptions of organizational performance and practices used to measure and report performance. Performance The Dynamic of Results in Postsecondary Organizations will be particularly useful to college and university administrators corporate executives and managers managers in non profit policy making and advocacy organizations graduate program faculty and students and management consulting organizations
