Investigation of Missing and Exploited Children: The Gateway of Child Sex Trafficking Pastor Joseph A. Travers, CPI, CCDI, CMECI, Joshua M. Travers, LPI, CMECI, 2018-10-13 Investigation of Missing Exploited Children The Gateway of Child Sex Trafficking is designed to provide the essential knowledge needed to identify and understand the issues and solutions that effectively combat the evils of domestic child sex trafficking in the United States. It is both an instructional guide and a resource manual for both the citizen and the government manager. The approach is direct and concise which facilitates comprehension by novices as well as experienced public servants. The purpose of this book is to fill the existing need within the field of public and private prevention investigation of runaways for a precise comprehensive manual detailing the elements necessary for the elimination of turning vulnerable children into sex slaves. There is a lack of professional resources on preventing child sex trafficking currently available. Investigation of Missing Exploited Children The Gateway of Child Sex Trafficking will help fill this void.

Recovery and Reunification of Missing Children, 1995 This publication provides information and guidelines to police and other professionals regarding best practices for reunifying recovered missing children and their families the dynamics of the criminal victimization process appropriate and careful investigation and prosecution techniques and issues and appropriate post recovery support services. The authors first present basic facts about missing children with attention to the various types of missing children including nonfamily abduction family abduction runaways throwaways children whose parents refuse to house and care for them and children who are lost injured or otherwise missing. In the second section of the publication a team approach to the family reunification with missing children is recommended and described. In a section on establishing a recovery and reunification team the authors explain the role of teams starting up implementation of the team and tips from successful teams. The team which is composed of representatives from law enforcement the family and dependency court child protection services mental health services and victim witness advocates coordinates services for the family and the recovered child. A section on planning for recovery and reunification focuses on the various roles of the agency representatives namely law enforcement as the lead responder mental health services the role of child protection services the role of the family or dependency court and the role of victim witness agencies. The next major section of the publication addresses the reunification meeting. Among the recommendations for this meeting are the giving of priority to the physical emotional needs of the child the alerting of family members as quickly as possible having the reunion in a neutral private location and the establishment of pre existing procedures for handling all aspects of the meeting from media involvement to activating the roles of team members. The concluding major section of the publication focuses on special issues of nonfamily and family abductions as well as runaway children. Each of these discussions consists of guidelines for managing the reunion and the reunion scenario. Appendices contain discussions of
