Rewriting God Elaine Lindsay,2000 Women are rarely if ever mentioned in commentaries upon Australian Christianity and spirituality Only exceptional women are recognized as authorities on religious matters Why is this so Does it matter Don't people from the same religious tradition share similar experiences of the divine regardless of their gender Rewriting God asks whether women have been writing about the divine and whether their insights are different from those contained in malestream accounts of Australian Christianity and spirituality An analysis of the writings of popular theologians and religious commentators over the last twenty years suggests that the most popular form of spirituality among Australian theologians is Desert Spirituality An analysis of women's autobiographical writings however suggests that the desert is irrelevant to many women's spiritual experiences This book through a close investigation of the fictions of Thea Astley Elizabeth Jolley and Barbara Hanrahan attempts to posit alternative forms of women's spirituality and to signal ways in which this spirituality is already being expressed From the evidence gathered here it becomes obvious that traditional expressions of Australian Christianity and spirituality are gender specific and that they have functioned to deny women's religious experiences and to silence their claims to equality in the sight and service of the divine It becomes obvious too that women have been developing their own forms of religious expression and that these may be expected to supplant gradually withering images of Desert Spirituality Whether this new imagery will strengthen Australian Christianity or whether it merely marks a decline in the authority of Christianity remains a moot point Woman in a Lampshade Elizabeth Jolley,1992-02-21 In this masterly collection of stories Elizabeth Jolley has created a splendid array of characters all of whom fail to achieve the expected Her stories are sometimes slyly comic sometimes disturbing but always they are written with a delicacy and compassion as moving as the characters themselves Photocopy Showing Dates of 1990 Production of The Newspaper of Claremont Street ,1990 Single sheet listing theatre ephemera held by State Library of Western Australia with the dates of The Newspaper of Claremont Street 1990 production highlighted This Week ,1990 Note on how the title Newspaper of Claremont Street came about
