Moral Development Theories -- Secular and Religious R. Murray Thomas, 1997-03-25 Moral Development Theories Secular and Religious introduces readers to 13 secular models and 13d religious theories in a wide ranging comparative study of the roots of moral development. The secular models include attribution theory cognitive structural views social learning and social cognition approaches Freud's psychoanalysis plus Erikson and Fromm Marxist beliefs a composite theory Hoffman's conception of empathy Anderson's information integration view Gilligan's gender distinction Sutherland and Cressey's explanation of delinquency and Lovinger on ego development. Religious theories represent the Judaic Christian Islamic line Hinduism and derivatives Buddhism Jainism Sikhism Confucianism Shinto and four minor theories drawn from the belief systems of the Navajo Zulus Vodou adherents and Okinawans. The description of each theory is designed to answer a common set of questions introduced in Chapter 1. The closing section of each chapter evaluates that chapter's theories in terms of a series of assessment standards described in Chapter 2. The book's final chapter inspects all of the theories from the viewpoint of five desires that people often hold in relation to their conceptions of moral development. The desires are a for immanent justice b to understand the causes of the consequences that result from people's behavior in moral situations c to become immortal d to enjoy a happy life and e to understand the moral development process in order to help others who need moral guidance.
