Overcoming Drugs:

Supramolecular host-guest nanosystems for overcoming cancer drug resistance Sha Wu, Miaomiao Yan, Minghao Liang, Wenzhi Yang, Jingyu Chen, Jiong Zhou, 2023-11-22 Cancer drug resistance has become one of the main challenges for the failure of chemotherapy greatly limiting the selection and use of anticancer drugs and dashing the hopes of cancer patients The emergence of supramolecular host guest nanosystems has brought the field of supramolecular chemistry into the nanoworld providing a potential solution to this challenge Compared with conventional chemotherapeutic platforms supramolecular host guest nanosystems can reverse cancer drug resistance by increasing drug uptake reducing drug efflux activating drugs and inhibiting DNA repair Herein we summarize the research progress of supramolecular host guest nanosystems for overcoming cancer drug resistance and discuss the future research direction in this field It is hoped that this review will provide more positive references for overcoming cancer drug resistance and promoting the development of supramolecular host guest nanosystems

Meanwhile changes in immune response alternation of drug binding property and downstream pathways are involved in the mechanisms of drug resistance in HER2 breast cancer. In addition, resistance to chemotherapeutic agents predominantly arises from increased drug efflux and cross resistance. Current studies suggest that treatment strategies and therapeutics have to be designed specifically to each patient in different clinical situations. The use of modern genomic, proteomic, and functional analytical techniques has contributed to identify novel genes and signaling networks involved in breast cancer drug resistance. Moreover, the use of high throughput techniques in combination with bioinformatics and systems biology approaches has aided the interrogation of clinical samples and allowed the identification of molecular signatures and genotypes that predict responses to certain drugs. Despite much progress has been made in the field of breast cancer drug resistance, such as combination therapy and drug loaded nanoparticles, the complexity and variability of drug resistance mechanism still inevitably lead to the continuous occurrence of drug resistance. Therefore, with the increasing amounts of anti breast cancer agents, there are now unprecedented opportunities to understand and overcome drug resistance through further research into mechanisms and corresponding strategies which will help achieve lasting disease control and bring survival benefits to patients with advanced cancer.

Papers of interest

The current Research Topic of Frontiers in Pharmacology focuses on publishing Original Research, Review articles, and Case Reports focusing on:

- a elucidating mechanisms of drug resistance in breast cancer
- b target mutations
- c tumor microenvironment
- d undiscovered genes and signaling pathways
- e promising drug delivery systems that can enhance the sensitivity of anti breast cancer agents to various tumors
- f strategies that can improve patient care during bio chemotherapeutic treatments
- g small molecule compounds that are effective against drug resistant breast tumors
- h biomarkers of chemotherapy resistance in breast cancer patients
- i and f in vitro and in vivo models

Guidelines for article of submission

Authors must stick to the set guidelines for ethical practices by the Frontiers journals. The main content of the article must have certain innovation and research significance. The authors should describe the construction method of drug resistant cell lines when using them for experiments in the article.
