Oxford Jon Davison,1987 Oxford ,1987 Oxford Jon Davison,1989 The Pattern and the Image David Vopřada, Markéta Dudziková, Viacheslav V. Lytvynenko, 2025-06-02 One of Plato's best known ideas is that the sensible world is an image of the intelligible pattern. The book examines the second life of this concept in late antiquity especially in the Hellenistic, Jewish and Christian milieus. It opens with the discussion of the key features of the pattern image concept in Plato and Plotinus and then focuses on the adoption of this concept in the works of Philo of Alexandria and the early Christian authors Clement of Alexandria, Origen, Eusebius, Athanasius, Gregory Nazianzus, Didymus the Blind, Ambrose of Milan and Pseudo Athanasius. The collected papers illuminate various aspects of the topic including the importance of the visible world and art in Platonism, allegorical and Christological interpretations of the biblical account of creation and relation of the intelligible pattern in the Logos to the world. The authors analyze the Jewish and Christian reinterpretations of the pattern image structure by looking into the ontological dignity of the image, its similarity and dissimilarity to the pattern and the mutual chronology of the pattern and the image. Combining theological, philosophical and philological approaches, the book offers a complex view of the pattern image relationship in various contexts.

The Ecumenical Movement Michael Kinnamon, Brian E. Cope, 1996-12-31 Included in this collection of documents from the twentieth century ecumenical movement are passages from texts produced by assemblies, conferences and studies of the World Council of Churches and similar bodies covering three areas of historical concern within modern ecumenism: faith and order, life and work, and mission and evangelism.

Foreign Devils and Philosophers Thijs Weststeijn, 2020-02-10 What was the cultural impact of early meetings between Chinese and Europeans? This book explores visual, literary and scholarly representations of the Celestial Empire and Western countries against the backdrop of actual encounters. Based on rare Chinese and correspondingly European, especially Dutch, sources and archival documents, the volume covers a range of cultural expressions from the applied arts to philosophy. Special attention goes to the ideals and realities of trade and diplomacy of the Dutch East India Company in China. Foreign Devils and Philosophers approaches global history from a cultural perspective and illuminates the reciprocal dynamic of aversion and admiration Chinese and Westerners could appear as sages or savages in each other's eyes.

Theological Aesthetics after von Balthasar Dr James Fodor, Dr Oleg V Bychkov, 2013-05-28 This collection of essays by distinguished authors explores the present day field of theological aesthetics from von Balthasar's contribution and parallel developments to correctives and alternatives to his approach. A tribute to von Balthasar's own project expands into a dialogue with ancient and medieval traditions in search of revelatory aesthetics. The contributors outline challenges to his approach, including Protestant perspectives and introduce new ways of viewing the field of theological aesthetics which ultimately opens up to the idea of concrete cultural contexts and practical human needs determining the use of the arts and aesthetic sensibilities in theology.

Scripture, Metaphysics, and Poetry Robert MacSwain, 2016-04-01 This book offers a critical edition of arguably the greatest work of English theology in the 20th century Austin Farrer's Bampton Lectures published as The Glass of Vision in 1948. Farrer was an interdisciplinary genius who made original contributions to philosophy, theology and biblical studies as well as to our understanding of the role of imagination in human thought and Christian doctrine. According to Farrer the three primary themes of these lectures are scripture, metaphysics and poetry individually and in relation to each other. The lectures defend his famous theory of divine revelation through images rather than propositions or events, a provocative account of the place of metaphysical reasoning in theology and a literary approach to the Biblical text that was decades ahead of its time and is still controversial. The Glass of Vision has generated a rich and interesting interdisciplinary conversation that has lasted for decades, starting with commentators such as Helen Gardner and Frank Kermode. In addition to Farrer's full text, this critical edition also contains an introduction to the significance and context of Farrer's thought and a selection of thirty years' worth of commentary by leading British and European theologians and literary scholars: David Brown, Ingolf Dalferth, Hans Haug, Douglas Hedley, David Jasper and Gerard Loughlin. Of interest to literary and biblical scholars, theologians and philosophers, this book holds particular value for those exploring the nature of imagination in contemporary thought and scholarship.

Living Forms of the Imagination Douglas Hedley, 2008-02-28

This book is essential reading for those interested in the imagination, epistemology, naturalism and the philosophy of religion. Charles Taliaferro, Professor of Philosophy, St Olaf College, Minnesota. The role of imagination in psychology, ethics and aesthetics provides a good analogy for thinking about the imagination in religious belief: in dealing with the inner lives of other human beings, moral values or aesthetic qualities, we need to employ the imagination to suppose, form hypotheses, empathize or imaginatively engage with alien people or worlds in order to understand. Just as we use the imagination to relate to other minds, appreciate beauty and understand goodness, we need imagination to engage with God's action in the world.

Images and Artefacts of the Ancient World British Academy, Royal Society (Great Britain), 2005-05-26

In this genuinely productive interdisciplinary dialogue, engineering scientists, archaeologists and historians discuss how recent exciting developments in imaging, image analysis and image display diffusion can be applied to three-dimensional objects of material culture from the classical world, ranging from inscribed writing tablets to buildings and urban sites. The fifteen papers explore the ways in which the scientific contributors and the historians are thinking about subjectivity of interpretation, visual cognition and the need to improve the presentation of evidence so as to feed directly back into their own scientific thinking and to encourage genuine innovation in developing methods of image enhancement and the interpretation of objects.
