Philip Cory Walcott

Morality For Moderns:

Morality for Moderns Corbin Fowler, 1996 This book defends morality against the critiques of egoism, subjectivism and relativism. It argues that we can and should construe some moral standards as objective and that justice and self development are the cornerstones of healthy morality. Opening with a dialogue meant to tease and provoke the reader, the book's subsequent chapters treat misconceptions about morality, the possibility of unselfish action, the nature of free will and moral responsibility and the identity of moral right and wrong.

Modern Industry in Relation to the Family, Health, Education, Morality Florence Kelley, 2011-07-07 A vivid description of the problems faced by America's urban working class due to rapid industrialisation, first published in 1914.

The Limits of Liberalism Mark T. Mitchell, 2018-11-30 In The Limits of Liberalism Mark T. Mitchell argues that a rejection of tradition is both philosophically incoherent and politically harmful. The Limits of Liberalism identifies why most modern thinkers have denied the essential role of tradition and explains how tradition can be restored to its proper place. Mitchell demonstrates that the rejection of tradition as an epistemic necessity has produced a false conception of the human person, the liberal self, which in turn has produced a false conception of freedom. Together, these false conceptions have facilitated both liberal cosmopolitanism and identity politics. Mitchell uses the philosophies of Michael Oakeshott, Alasdair MacIntyre and Michael Polanyi to construct a compelling argument for a reconstructed view of tradition and, as a result, a reconstructed view of freedom. The Limits of Liberalism reveals that only by finding an alternative to the liberal self can we escape the incoherencies and pathologies inherent therein.

Relations of Rescue : The Search for Female Moral Authority in the American West, 1874-1939 Peggy Pascoe Associate Professor of History University of Utah, 1990-03-29 In this study of late nineteenth century moral reform, Peggy Pascoe examines four specific cases: a home for Chinese prostitutes in San Francisco, California; a home for polygamous Mormon women in Salt Lake City, Utah; a home for unmarried mothers in Denver, Colorado; and a program for American Indians on the Omaha Reservation in Nebraska, to tell the story of the women who established missionary rescue homes for women in the American West. Focusing on two sets of relationships—those between women reformers and their male opponents and those between women reformers and the various groups of women they sought to shelter—Pascoe traces the gender relations that framed the reformers' search for female moral authority, analyzes the interaction between women reformers and the women who entered the rescue homes, and raises provocative questions about

This book argues that a major part of the Chinese government's road map formulated in 2017 to modernise China comprehensively by 2049 is the process of social disciplining It contends that the Chinese state sees that modernisation and modernity encompass not only economic and political administrative change but are also related to the organisation of society in general and the disciplining of this society and its individuals to create people with modernised minds and behaviour and that moreover the Chinese state is aspiring to a modernity with Chinese characteristics The question of modernising by disciplining was extensively dealt with in the twentieth century by leading Western social scientists including Max Weber Norbert Elias and Michel Foucault who argued that disciplining extending from external coercion towards the internalisation of restraints is indispensable for achieving social order and thereby for civilisation but defined from a European perspective in relation to developments in Europe This book therefore not only discusses the Chinese experience of social disciplining but also by looking at a non Western society identifies universal tendencies of societal change and social disciplining and separates them from particular occurrences Modern Theories in Philosophy and Religion John Tulloch,1884 The Modern Trend of Literary Criticism Charles Richard Mann,1907 Victims of Morality, and The Failure of Christianity Emma Goldman,1913 Leo XIII and Modern Civilization John Bleecker Miller,1897 Modern Values and Their Christian Sources Philip Cory Walcott,1914 The American Ecclesiastical Review Herman Joseph Heuser,1961 *Christian Evidence Viewed in Relation to Modern Thought. Enjoying the Tune of Expression: An Mental Symphony within Morality For Moderns

In some sort of eaten by screens and the ceaseless chatter of fast conversation, the melodic beauty and mental symphony produced by the written term often fade into the background, eclipsed by the persistent noise and disruptions that permeate our lives. However, nestled within the pages of Morality For Moderns a marvelous literary treasure full of organic thoughts, lies an immersive symphony waiting to be embraced. Constructed by a masterful composer of language, this interesting masterpiece conducts visitors on a mental trip, skillfully unraveling the hidden tunes and profound influence resonating within each cautiously crafted phrase. Within the depths of the moving evaluation, we can discover the book is central harmonies, analyze their enthralling writing design, and submit ourselves to the profound resonance that echoes in the depths of readers souls.
