Margins And Marginality:

Marginality Jung Young Lee,1995-01-01 Marginality proposes a framework that justifies and undergirds development of contextual theologies without becoming itself dominating Jung Young Lee aims to address the dilemmas of contextual theology not by moving one or another group from the margin to the center but by redefining marginality itself as central

Writing Margins Terry Kawashima,2001 In texts from the mid Heian to the early Kamakura periods certain figures appear to be marginal or removed from centers of power But why do we see these figures in this way This study first seeks to answer this question by examining the details of the marginalizing discourse found in these texts Who is portraying whom as marginal For what reason Is the discourse consistent The author next considers these texts in terms of the predilection of modern scholarship both Japanese and Western to label certain figures marginal She then poses the question Is this predilection a helpful tool or does it inscribe modern biases and misconceptions onto these texts A Psychotherapy for the

Feminist Theologies: The Basics Susan M. Shaw,Grace Ji-Sun Kim,2025-12-26 For most of Christian history theology has been written primarily by men Beginning in the early 1960s feminists identified ways traditional theologies omitted ignored and vilified women s experiences issues and perspectives In the past 60 years feminists have developed a vibrant theological tradition that is essential for a full understanding of Christian theologies Feminist theologies engage some of the most important and controversial issues of our time from the roles of women in society to sexuality abortion gender identity and the environment Feminist Theologies The Basics aims to Provide historical context for the development of feminist theology Examine feminist theological methods Share new and emerging feminist voices Focus on the feminist concept of intersectionality Using the idea of justice to understand feminist theologies With definitions of key terms and suggestions for further reading throughout this book is an ideal starting point for anyone seeking a full introduction to feminist theologies as well as broader themes in theology gender and sexuality Colonisation, Migration, and Marginal Areas Mariana Mondini, Sebastián Munoz, Stephen

Wickler, 2017-01-23 Human migration tends to involve more than the odd suitcase or two we often carry other organisms on our travels some are deliberately transported others move by accident This volume of 12 papers offers a zooarchaeological approach to questions surrounding the nature and extent of human colonization and migration and the adaptation of humans to new and sometimes extreme or challenging environments The volume is divided into two parts Part 1 takes up the theme of Human and Animal Migration and Colonisation Contributors consider the relationship between human movements and the movements of animals and animal products case studies look at Neolithic population movements in Oceania the Norse colonization of Greenland and the European settlement of Virginia Part 2 focuses on the topic of Behavioural Variability in the So Called Marginal Areas Contributors offer various interpretations of the concept of marginality from climatic extremes of the Arctic cold and the heat and aridity of western North America to the geographical remoteness of Patagonia and the cultural circumstances surrounding the beginnings of transhumant pastoralism in prehistoric southeastern Europe

Against History, Against State Shail Mayaram, 2003 A reassessment of conventional South Asian historiography from a subaltern perspective and a unique look at how conceptions of history and community clash This incisive study explores the Meo community through their oral literature revealing sophisticated modes of collective memory and self government while telling a story that radically diverges from most accepted Indian histories Margins in British and American Literature, Film, and Culture Marita Nadal, M. Dolores Herrero, 1997 Thinking Differently Gabrielle Griffin, Rosi Braidotti, 2002-10 Presentation sous <http://www.zedbooks.co.uk> This is the first book to ask whether there is a specifically European dimension to some of the major issues in Women's Studies In doing so it fills some of the gaps in our knowledge about women and enriches debates hitherto dominated by Anglo American influences Among the new areas of enquiry opened up are Europe's experience of repeated warfare has impacted significantly on women Hence contributions focus on women and militarism and ethnic cleansing as an attack on the family The abidingly problematic relationship between feminism and anti semitism and issues of migration and whiteness in a context where racism reflects the colonial histories of particular European countries The importance of passion the emotions and psychoanalytical theory for the politics of certain European countries The decline of the welfare state across Europe the issue of the relationship between women's rights and human rights and the rise of the phenomenon of the single woman Reading feminism from a European perspective enables readers to reflect upon the ways changes in political social and cultural positions and practices over the past century in Europe have impacted on feminist thinking and theorizing The volume also raises important issues about the transfer of feminist concepts across cultures and languages And to English speaking audiences the volume will offer different viewpoints on some of the key debates Theatre at the Margins John W. Frick, 2000 This collection of essays explores the complex and ever fluctuating relationship between the mainstream and the marginal as it applies to the world of theatre The American Economic Review, 1911 Marginal Groups and Mainstream American Culture Yolanda Estes, 2000 They are often portrayed as outsiders ethnic minorities the poor the disabled and so many others all living on the margins of mainstream society Countless previous studies have focused on their pain and powerlessness but that has done little more than sustain our preconceptions of marginalized groups Most accounts of marginalization approach the subject from a distance and tend to overemphasize the victimization of outsiders Taking a more intimate approach this book reveals the personal moral and social implications of marginalization by drawing upon the actual experiences of such individuals Multidisciplinary and multicultural Identity on the Margin addresses marginalization at a variety of social levels and within many different social phenomena going beyond familiar cases dealing with race ethnicity and gender to examine such outsiders as renegade children conservative Christians and the physically and mentally disabled And because women are especially subject to the effects of marginalization feminist concerns and the marginalization of sexual practices provide a common denominator for many of the essays From problems posed by complimentary racism to the status of gays in Tony Blair's England from the struggle of Native Americans to preserve their identities to the singular problems of single mothers Identity on the Margin takes in a broad spectrum of cases to provide theoretical analysis and ethical criticism of the mechanisms of identity formation at the edges of society In all of the cases the authors demonstrate the need for theory that initiates social change by considering the ethical implications of marginalization and criticizing its harmful effects Bringing together accounts of marginalization from many different disciplines and perspectives this collection addresses a broad audience in the humanities and social sciences It offers a basis for enhancing our understanding of this process and for working toward meaningful social change The Voice Of Elizabethian Stage Directions Linda McJannet, 1999 This book highlights the form and voice of stage directions as an important aspect of dramatic discourse generally and Elizabethan drama specifically It traces the development of Elizabethan directions from their medieval forebears and contrasts the directions associated with the professional theaters with the neoclassical conventions of other venues Europe at the Margins Costis Hadjimichalis, David Sadler, 1995-08-29 Looks at the emergence of new forms of marginality as part of the new map of Europe The contributors focus on regions cities and social groups which at first sight are missing out the people and places on the edge of dominant economic political and cultural systems which carry the stigma of marginality The Mechanics of the Mirage Michel Delville, Christine Pagnouille, 2000 Hispanic Christian Thought at the Dawn of the 21st Century Justo L. González, 2005 In this book Alvin Padilla Roberto Goizueta and Eldin Villafa e bring together an impressive array of Hispanic scholars from across the theological disciplines to articulate just such a comprehensive construction of Hispanic theology Their purpose is to delineate the common elements in Hispanic biblical studies theology and ethics and to draw these together into a statement of what Hispanic theology has to say to the larger theological community and to the church To do so they organize their presentation around four theological streams that run through Hispanic theology

Reading Scripture from the Margins The contributors will present a reading of the biblical text that incorporates into its interpretative methodology the experience of alienation and marginalization the central feature of Hispanic sociohistorical reality Subversive and Liberating Memories The contributors discover the subversive and liberating stories and voices within the Christian tradition and demonstrate how the memory of these liberate Hispanics and others from contemporary oppression Liberating Truth The authors offer fresh perspective on theological truth incorporating the distinctive Hispanic sources locus and expressions Liberating Praxis Drawing on current Hispanic religious experience for example spirituality church life and ministry the authors reflect on the way Hispanic religious experience is changing and how it will change the landscape of Western Christianity in the 21st century
