France Mugler, John Lynch

Pacific Languages An Introduction:

Pacific Languages John Lynch, 2016-06-01 Almost one quarter of the world's languages are or were spoken in the Pacific making it linguistically the most complex region in the world. Although numerous technical books on groups of Pacific or Australian languages have been published and descriptions of individual languages are available until now there has been no single book that attempts a wide regional coverage for a general audience. Pacific Languages introduces readers to the grammatical features of Oceanic, Papuan and Australian languages as well as to the semantic structures of these languages. For readers without a formal linguistic background a brief introduction to descriptive linguistics is provided. In addition to describing the structure of Pacific languages this volume places them in their historical and geographical context, discusses the linguistic evidence for the settlement of the Pacific and speculates on the reason for the region's many languages. It devotes considerable attention to the effects of contact between speakers of different languages and to the development of pidgin and creole languages in the Pacific. Throughout technical language is kept to a minimum without oversimplifying the concepts or the issues involved. A glossary of technical terms, maps and diagrams help identify a language geographically or genetically, reading lists and a language index guide the researcher interested in a particular language or group to other sources of information. Here at last is a clear and straightforward overview of Pacific languages for linguists and anyone interested in the history of sociology of the Pacific.

Languages of the Pacific Islands Hiroko Sato, 2017-08-04 This introductory textbook on languages of the Pacific Islands was first compiled to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the founding of the Department of Linguistics at the University of Hawaii at Manoa in 1963. The target audience is undergraduate students with no prior coursework in linguistics and little knowledge of the Pacific Islands. All chapters have been refereed and revised. The current edition includes new chapters on Hawaiian and early Polynesian pidgins. Pacific Languages in Education France Mugler, John Lynch, 1996 This collection of articles and interviews explores policy practice and attitudes relating to the use of Pacific languages in education systems of most Pacific Island countries and territories from pre-school to tertiary level. It records history, it deals with current attitudes and prejudices and it focuses attention on perceived problems with the medium of education in many parts of the region. Back cover Language Planning and Policy in the Pacific Richard B. Baldauf, Robert B. Kaplan, 2006 This volume covers the language situation in Fiji, The Philippines and Vanuatu, explaining the linguistic diversity, the historical and political contexts and the current language situation including language in education, planning, the role of the media, the role of religion and the roles of non-indigenous languages. The authors are indigenous and/or have been participants in the language planning context. LL222, Structure of Pacific Languages John Lynch, University of the South Pacific. Barnett, 1978 International Handbook on Education Development in the Asia-Pacific Wing On Lee, Phillip Brown, A. Lin Goodwin, Andy Green, 2023-11-20 The Springer International Handbook of Educational Development in Asia Pacific breaks new ground with a comprehensive, fine-grained and diverse perspective on research and education development throughout the Asia Pacific region. In 13 sections and 127 chapters, the Handbook delves into a wide spectrum of contemporary topics including educational equity and quality, language education, learning and human development, workplace learning, teacher education and professionalization, higher education, organisations, citizenship and moral education, and high performing education systems. The Handbook is grounded in specific Asia Pacific contexts and scholarly traditions, using unique country-specific narratives for example Vietnam and Melanesia, and socio-cultural investigations through lenses such as language identity or colonisation while offering parallel academic discourse and analyses framed by broader policy.

commentary from around the world Pacific Studies : a Journal Devoted to the Study of the Pacific-its Islands and Adjacent Countries ,2003 Language Planning in the Asia Pacific Robert Kaplan,Richard Baldauf,2013-12-16 This volume covers the language situation in Hong Kong Timor Leste and Sri Lanka explaining the linguistic diversity the historical and political contexts and the current language situation including language in education planning the role of the media the role of religion and the roles of non indigenous languages Two of the authors are indigenous to the situations described while the other has undertaken extensive field work and consulting there The three monographs contained in this volume draw together the literature on each of the polities to present an overview of the research available about each of them while providing new research based information The purpose of the volume is to provide an up to date overview of the language situation in each polity based on a series of key questions in the hope that this might facilitate the development of a richer theory to guide language policy and planning in other polities where similar issues may arise This book was published as special issues of Current Issues in Language Planning The Native Races of the Pacific States of North America: Myths and languages. 1875 Hubert Howe Bancroft,1875 Extensive anthropological ethnographic linguistic archaeological and historical work on the Indians of the North Central and South Americas and in North America as far east as the Mississippi Valley The Native Races [of the Pacific States]... Hubert Howe Bancroft,1882 Pacific Collection Acquisitions List University of Hawaii at Manoa.
