subject The selection of texts analysed here is representative of a wide spectrum of attitudes including a sharply critical refusal to acknowledge Christianity as the basis of civilization Some poets see national religion as a framework for cultural identity while others worship nature as the omnipotent Force of Life trying to create their own gods Rather than reducing poetry to a background for philosophical analysis or theological deliberation this book presents diverse modes of the poetic endeavor to capture and convey the divine The chapters provide a range of perspectives on individual experience rendered into poetry as a subtle relationship between faith perception and language The text will be of interest to anyone looking for new ways of reading poetry as a spiritual guest

Varieties of Aesthetic Experience Craig Bradshaw Woelfel, 2018-10-15 An exploration of belief as an experience both secular and religious through the study of major literary works At the height of modernism in the 1920s what did it mean to believe and how was it experienced Craig Woelfel seeks to answer this pivotal question in Varieties of Aesthetic Experience Literary Modernism and Dissociation of Belief a groundbreaking exploration of the relationship between secular modernity and religious engagement Woelfel hinges his argument on the unlikely comparison of two revered modern writers T S Eliot and E M Forster They had vastly different experiences with religion as Eliot converted to Christianity later in life and Forster became a steadfast nonbeliever over time but Woelfel contends that their stories offer a compelling model for belief as broken and ambivalent rather than constant Narratives of faith its loss or gain are no longer linear but instead are just as fractured and varied as the modernists themselves Drawing from Eliot's and Forster's major and minor creative and critical works Woelfel makes the case for a dissociation of belief during the modern era a separation of emotional and spiritual religious experience from its reduction to forms He contextualizes belief in the modern era alongside modernist religious studies scholarship and current secularization theory with particular attention to Charles Taylor's A Secular Age paving the way for a more nuanced understanding of religious engagement at the time In Varieties of Aesthetic Experience Woelfel considers major literary works including Eliot's The Waste Land and Forster's A Passage to India as well as the Cambridge Clark Lectures and previously unstudied personal writings from both authors The volume revolves around a line from Eliot himself from a lecture in which he said that he wanted to see art and to see it whole Rather than excluding belief from the conversation Woelfel contends that modernist art can become a critical liminal space for exploring what it means to believe in a secular age

Herbert, Vaughan, Crashaw, Jonson, Herrick, Marvell Barbara Kiefer Lewalski,Andrew J. Sabol,1973 There have been many Golden Ages in the English literary tradition but none has surpassed in intensity variety and technical brilliance the early years of the seventeenth century This was the age which brought the ideals of the reformation to full fruition and witnessed currents merged felicitously with the poetic and musical impulse to produce a remarkable florescence of lyric poetry giving brilliant expression to the newly perceived interconnection between the divine and mundane worlds The editors of this volume have brought together the work of seven poets who in their opinion are true luminaries in the age of brilliance Each
