Networks Of Knowledge Collaborative Innovation In International Learning:

Networks of Knowledge Janice Gross Stein, Joy Fitzgibbon, Richard Stren, 2001-01-01 Examines the knowledge network whose primary mandate is to create and disseminate knowledge based on multidisciplinary research that is informed by problem solving as well as theoretical agendas Networks of Knowledge, 2008 Networks of Knowledge Joy Fitzgibbon, 2001 The network is the pervasive organizational image of the new millennium This book examines one particular kind of network the knowledge network whose primary mandate is to create and disseminate knowledge based on multidisciplinary research that is informed by problem solving as well as theoretical agendas In their examination of five knowledge networks based in Canadian universities and in most cases working closely with researchers in developing countries the authors demonstrate the ability of networks to cross disciplinary boundaries to blend the operational with the theoretical and to respond to broad social processes Operating through networks rather than through formal hierarchical structures diverse communities of researchers create different kinds of knowledge and disseminate their results effectively across disciplinary sectoral and spatial boundaries Analysis of networks in health environment urban and educational fields suggests that old categories of north and south are becoming blurred and that the new structures of knowledge creation and dissemination help to sustain collaborative research Knowledge Actors and Transnational Governance D. Stone, 2013-08-29 Diane Stone addresses the network alliances or partnerships of international organisations with knowledge organisations and networks Moving beyond more common studies of industrial public private partnerships she addresses how and why international organisations and global policy actors need to incorporate ideas expertise and scientific opinion into their global programmes Rather than assuming that the encouragement for evidence informed policy in global and regional institutions of governance is an indisputable public good she queries the influence of expert actors in the growing number of part private or semi public policy networks ICICKM2015-12th International Conference on Intellectual Capital Knowledge Management & Organisational Learning Vincent Ribi re and Lugkana Worasinchai, 2015-10-20 Social Science and Policy Challenges Georgios Papanagnou, 2011-01-01 Producing scientific knowledge that can inform solutions and guide policy making is one of the most important functions of social science Nonetheless if social science is to become more relevant and influential so as to impact on the drawing and execution of policy certain measures need to be taken to narrow its distance from the policy sphere This decision is less obvious than it seems Both research and experience have proved that policy making is a complex often sub rational interactive process that involves a wide range of actors such as decision makers bureaucrats researchers organized interests citizen and civil society representatives and research brokers In addition social science often needs to defend both its relevance to policy and its own scientific status Moving away from instrumental visions of the link between social research and policy this collective volume aims to highlight the more constructed nature of the use of social knowledge ICICKM2012-Proceedings of the 9th International Conference on
