New Bergson:

The New Bergson John Mullarkey, 1999 At the threshold of the twentieth century Bergson reset the agenda for philosophy and its relationship with science art and even life itself Concerned with both examining and extolling the phenomena of time change and difference he was at one point held as both the greatest thinker in the world and the most dangerous man in the world Yet the impact of his ideas was so all pervasive among artists philosophers and politicians alike that by the end of the First World War it had become impossibly diffuse In a manner imitating his own cult of change the Bergsonian school departed from the scene almost as quickly as it had arrived As part of a current resurgence of interest in Bergson both in Europe and in North America this collection of essays addresses the significance of his philosophical legacy for contemporary thought celebrates the centennial of Henri Bergson's Creative Evolution published in 1907. Since evolution is a living process and not a completed history, any understanding of it must necessarily be open-ended. If no one can have the last word, Bergson writes, the project of understanding evolution will only be built up by the collective and progressive effort of many thinkers of many observers, also completing, correcting, and improving one another. Included in the issue are articles from Bergson scholars from the United States, Japan, France, and Great Britain. Topics in the issue range from Bergson's encounters with Darwin, Nietzsche, Derrida, and Deleuze and from the analytical to the metaphysical.

Henri Bergson's Creative Evolution 100 Years Later Michael Kolkman, Michael Vaughan, 2010-09-01 This special issue of SubStance 2007

NEW PHILOSOPHY HENRI BERGSON
EDOUARD LE ROY, 2018 A New Philosophy Edouard Le Roy, 2016-05-12 Edouard Louis Emmanuel Julien Le Roy, June 18, 1870 in Paris, November 10, 1954 in Paris, was a French philosopher and mathematician. Le Roy especially interested himself in the relations between science and morality. Along with Henri Poincaré and Pierre Duhem, he supported a conventionalist thesis on the foundation of mathematics. Although a fervent Catholic, he extended this conventionalist theory to revealed truths which did not, according to him, withdraw any of their strength.

Henri Bergson: Key Writings Henri Bergson, 2002-04-22. This volume brings together generous selections from his major texts: Time and Free Will, Matter and Memory, Creative Evolution, Mind Energy, The Creative Mind, The Two Sources of Morality and Religion, and Laughter. In addition, it features material from the Mélanges never before translated in English, such as the correspondence between Bergson and William James. The volume will be an excellent textbook for pedagogic purposes and a helpful source book for philosophers working across the analytic-continental divide.

Bergson's Philosophy of Biology Tano S. Posteraro, 2022-03-07. Tano S. Posteraro contributes to the increasingly serious study of Bergson's philosophy with a tight focus on Bergson's theory of evolution. He presents an alternative Bergson: not a phenomenologist whose central datum is the conscious experience of lived time or the lived body in time, but a systematic philosopher of biology with a robust, prescient, and largely workable evolutionary programme.

A New Philosophy Édouard Le Roy, 1913 Vitalist Modernism Fae Brauer, 2023-02-28. This book reveals how, when, where, and why vitalism and its relationship to new scientific theories, philosophies, and concepts of energy became seminal from the fin de siècle until the Second World War for such Modernists as Sophie Taeuber-Arp, Hugo Ball, Juliette Bisson, Eva Carrère, Salvador Dalí, Robert Delaunay, Marcel Duchamp, Edvard Munch, Picasso, Yves Tanguy, Gino Severini, and John Cage. For them, Vitalism entailed the conception of life as a constant process of metamorphosis, impelled by the free flow of energies, imaginings, intuition, and memories, unconstrained by mechanistic materialism and chronometric imperatives to generate what the philosopher Henri Bergson aptly called Creative Evolution. Following the three main dimensions of Vitalist Modernism, the first part of this book reveals how biovitalism at the fin de siècle entailed the pursuit of corporeal regeneration through absorption in raw nature, wholesome environments, aquatic therapies, electromagnetism, heliotherapy, modern sports, particularly rugby, water sports, the Olympic Games, and physical culture, to energize the human body and vitalize its life force. This is illuminated by artists as geoculturally diverse as Gustave

Caillebotte Thomas Eakins Munch and Albert Gleizes The second part illuminates how simultaneously Vitalism became aligned with anthroposophy esotericism magnetism occultism parapsychology spiritism theosophy and what Bergson called psychic states alongside such new sciences as electromagnetism radiology and the Fourth Dimension as captured by such artists as Juliette Bisson Giacomo Balla Albert Besnard Umberto Boccioni Eva Carri re John Gerrard Keulemans L szl Moholy Nagy James Tissot Albert von Schrenck Notzing and Picasso During and after the devastation of the First World War the third part explores how Vitalism particularly Bergson s theory of becoming became associated with Dadaist Neo Dadaist and Surrealist notions of amorality atemporality dysfunctionality entropy irrationality inversion negation and the nonsensical captured by Hans Arp Charlie Chaplin Theo Van Doesburg Kazimir Malevich Kurt Schwitters and Vladimir Tatlin alongside Cage s concept of Nothing After investigating the widespread engagement with Bergson s philosophies and Vitalism and art by Anarchists Marxists and Communists during and after the First World War it concludes with the official rejection of Bergson and any form of Vitalism in the Soviet Union under Stalin This book will be of vital interest to gallery exhibition and museum curators and visitors plus readers and scholars working in art history art theory cultural studies modernist studies occult studies European art and literature health histories of science philosophy psychology sociology sport studies heritage studies museum studies and curatorship A Companion to Nineteenth-Century Philosophy John Shand,2019-04-10
