Love Unknown:

Love's Redeeming Work Geoffrey Rowell, Kenneth Stevenson, Rowan Williams, 2003-10-23 There is a rich vein of writing within Anglican tradition that has helped to form the theology and spirituality of the contemporary church. For many readers much of this material remains unfamiliar and is often difficult to access. Love's Redeeming Work draws together the works of major writers from the sixteenth century to the present day who have contributed to this development. Each selected writer is introduced with a brief biography which gives background information about the author and highlights the relationships that existed with others from the same period. This will enable the reader to set the writings in their proper context enhancing understanding of the material. The selections then follow. In some instances these may be familiar but other examples will introduce fresh ideas for every reader. Each writer's selection is concluded with a list of source texts which can encourage readers to explore in more depth those areas which intrigue and excite them. Love's Redeeming Work traces a path that has enabled Anglicanism in particular and the wider church as well to develop an ever deepening awareness of the need for a spiritual depth in the Christian life informed by a better knowledge of tradition. In exploring this material it is the compilers hope that readers will find new riches that will encourage and sustain their own quest for holiness. The Spectator, 1840

Worship Changes Everything Darlene Zschech, 2015-10-27 Renowned Songwriter and Author Helps Readers See Worship as a Way of Life. It can be easy to have a heart filled with worship on a Sunday morning as the church band is playing your favorite song. But then comes Monday morning's commute or Tuesday afternoon's pile of laundry. So what does worship look like in real life at work in your family or with your friends? Darlene Zschech has spent her life thinking and teaching about worship. With wisdom and contagious joy she shares her thoughts on what worship truly is and how it should invade every facet of your being. Let yourself be transformed by the purpose and freedom that come from living a life of worship. Dark Valley Observing Aladdin Ayesh, 2005 Dark Valley Observing is an act of observing people, things and self. It varies from the very dark over charged feelings such as The Long Road To Nothingness to the light hearted poems like Hello World. It also includes the romantic almost silly poems like Smiling to the self contradictory poems like Falling Asleep Falling Awake. Dark Valley Observing shares one thing with Aladdin's first collection Blue Voice that is meaning is a feeling which the reader interprets. There is no pre set agenda or pre coded message. Instead it is a simple straight and sometimes lengthy talking of events thoughts reflections and imagery. Dark Valley Observing also represents Aladdin's first attempts to experiment with form. Aladdin uses capitalization, indentation and mid sentence breaks to force a particular form of reading. Pauses and esthetic layout. Some of the poems attempt to please the senses of sight and sound whilst others attempt to shock and force the reader to think. Dark Valley Observing expects you as a reader to take on each poem and determine its meaning. It expects you to dress each poem with your experience and reflect on that experience from the poem as well as reflecting on the poem from your experience. Dark Valley Observing is a book of poetry to be adopted by the reader. Living Name Mark

Halliday,2025-03-20 Living Name is a collection of essays on American poetry written by an expert practitioner of that art Poet and critic Mark Halliday turns his attention to the work of poets who interest him because they create convincing voices of people dealing with the everyday Instead of trying to survey the vast variety of modern poetry Halliday considers an idiosyncratic selection of poets he finds compelling for their originality of style and exploration of human possibilities including Walt Whitman Kenneth Fearing Kenneth Koch Robert Pinsky Rachel Wetzsteon Tony Hoagland Claire Bateman and Dean Young Each essay includes thorough close readings of individual poems reflecting a commitment to the idea that a poem as a work of art needs to be appreciated as a unified whole Halliday's writing is judicious and meditative but not overly scholarly or academic A long piece at the beginning of the book Poetry and the Rescue of Particulars argues that poems often attempt to reclaim the details of our usual routines from the chaotic confusion and noise of daily existence The impulse to write a poem Halliday believes often stems from the notion that representing in poetry a sliver of human life keeps it in the world as a trace of the vanishing moment is retained and endowed with some form of lasting reality Throughout Living Name Halliday enacts the allegiances that have driven his criticism for many years to listen for genuine voices in poetry to study whole poems not merely passages and to look for intelligent efforts to illuminate truths of human experience
