Creative Ship Model Making Gerhard O.W. Fischer, It is often annoying that every kit model built from the same kit of the same company is like one egg from the other. This is what creative ship modelling aims to change. Using prefabricated hulls it is mainly a matter of the superstructure which must be redesigned, sawn out and further processed and further processed without the need for a construction template. The conversion of kit models shows how to convert ready built models to a completely new model by converting them to jet propulsion. Finally the author presents four examples how larger display models can be converted into real driving models to properly running RC ship models by installing a remote control system. From the content Construction of models according to own designs Building description of two creative models Building a police boat according to own ideas Two creative construction models The MULTIBOAT A speedboat and a mega luxury yacht Conversion of kit models The FLORIDA as a jet model The RAPIDO 600 as a jet model A customs cruiser and a fishery protection boat Conversion of display models to RC models Cruise ship QUEEN MARY 2 Sea rescue cruiser HERMANN MARWEDE German submarine class VII C American submarine GATO class

Although the proliferation of CAD programs has enabled the creation of increasingly complex computer models and virtual environments there is also a growing need to address the three dimensional qualities of architecture that may be lost when using such media. This book focuses on the inspiring possibilities for modelling the built environment with all the different media and techniques available. In describing the use of different models in different contexts the book provides a practical guide to how and why models are used and what they are used for. This second edition includes more detailed step by step exercises expanded discussion of materials and techniques updated coverage of digital techniques and new case studies Model Making Bernard
