Managing for Healthy Ecosystems David J. Rapport, Bill L. Lasley, Dennis E. Rolston, N. Ole Nielsen, Calvin O. Qualset, Ardesir B. Damania, 2002-10-29 One of the critical issues of our time is the dwindling capacity of the planet to provide life support for a large and growing human population Based on a symposium on ecosystem health Managing for Healthy Ecosystems identifies key issues that must be resolved if there is to be progress in this complex area such as Evolving methods for regional ecosystem health assessment employing complex adaptive systems coupled with adaptive technologies to permit accurate determination of changes in regional and global environments Issues and methods for assessing monitoring and managing diversity and its impact on human health in the context of climate change agroecosystems restoration of forests politics culture and tradition Leading thinkers in the field provide a coherent synthesis and a benchmark for the practice of this emerging field worldwide The more than 100 peer reviewed papers are grouped into three major parts The first Emerging Concepts explores the diverse meanings of ecosystem health within ecological socio economic and human health perspectives and the linkages to related concepts such as ecological integrity sustainable development and ecological footprints The second part Issues and Methods introduces methods for assessing and monitoring ecosystem health including strategies for gaining political and stakeholder input and support for science based ecosystem management The final part Case Studies reports experiences of interdisciplinary teams grappling with specific issues in a variety of aquatic and terrestrial ecosystems

Public Participation In Development Planning And Management Jean-claude Garcia-zamor, 2019-09-16 This book examines the position held by most development administrators that citizen participation in the planning and management of development projects is crucial to their lasting success The contributors view inadequate participation as part of the larger problem of ineffective management policies and planning They show that development objects

Information, Management and Participation Francesco di Notarbartolo Villarosa, 2005-08-02 In order to alleviate poverty people oriented projects those dealing with activities such as institutional development health family planning education and rural development must be well targeted towards the most vulnerable groups However official top down information is incapable of identifying prioritising and marking out these groups at a local level and the result is too often an unfair inefficient and ineffective allocation and use of the resources of social programmes The author argues that a process approach is often necessary to generate relevant knowledge about local needs especially in poor urban and heterogeneous areas Such an approach fosters flexibility and adaptability to the local context The book analyses the whole approach to information handling which was developed in the Brazilian project The different phases are analysed the collection and processing of data and the construction of an information system to be used for decision making *A.I.D. A.I.D. Research and Development Abstracts United States. Agency for International Development,1982 The Management of Projects Peter W. G. Morris,1994 This book will undoubtedly become one of the classics of the project management literature There will be a growing need for project managers who can look beyond the internal processes of their projects to the organisational technological and socio economic contexts in which projects must be managed A good starting point would be for all project managers to read this book Construction Management and Economics

Autonomous Development Raff Carmen,1996-02-05 At a time of widespread disillusion as to what development has in practice done to the lives of hundreds of millions of marginalised people over the past 40 years this book seeks to reclaim development as a project of people s own autonomous agency Born out of three decades of field experience and working with Third World students it revisits the primary question of what development ought really to be about Raff Carmen starts from the conviction that development is too important to be left to the developers He critically examines what has gone on under its name finding it wanting both as an epistemological category and a sound operational practice Instead he presents a counter view of development as an act of creation whereby people exercise their inalienable right to invent their own future as authors of an ongoing process of transforming and humanising the landscapes they inhabit Horizons ,1983 Rural Development Participation Review ,1979

Development by and for the People Sheldon Gellar,1982 Participatory Approaches to Development Trinidad S. Osteria,Jonathan Y.
