Banking and Financial Markets Andrada Bilan, Hans Degryse, Kuchulain O'Flynn, Steven Ongena, 2019-11-13. The traditional role of a bank was to transfer funds from savers to investors engaging in maturity transformation screening for borrower risk and monitoring for borrower effort in doing so. A typical loan contract was set up along six simple dimensions the amount the interest rate the expected credit risk determining both the probability of default for the loan and the expected loss given default the required collateral the currency and the lending technology. However the modern banking industry today has a broad scope offering a range of sophisticated financial products a wider geography including exposure to countries with various currencies regulation and monetary policy regimes and an increased reliance on financial innovation and technology. These new bank business models have had repercussions on the loan contract. In particular the main components and risks of a loan contract can now be hedged on the market by means of interest rate swaps foreign exchange transactions credit default swaps and securitization. Securitized loans can often be pledged as collateral thus facilitating new lending. And the lending technology is evolving from one to one meetings between a loan officer and a borrower at a bank branch towards potentially disruptive technologies such as peer to peer lending crowd funding or digital wallet services. This book studies the interaction between traditional and modern banking and the economic benefits and costs of this new financial ecosystem by relying on recent empirical research in banking and finance and exploring the effects of increased financial sophistication on a particular dimension of the loan contract.

Hedging with Interest Rate Swaps and Currency Swaps Nicolas Beilke, Verena Hauff, Sarah Pluhar, 2007-02-04. Seminar paper from the year 2006 in the subject Business economics Banking Stock Exchanges Insurance Accounting grade 1 0 Reutlingen University sib school of international business Reutlingen course International Financing language English abstract Risk management within companies is getting more and more important. The reasons for this development are varied. The most important factor is doubtless the internationalisation of companies. Acting on international markets offers on the one hand numerous chances for an enterprise but on the other hand it also holds an additional risk potential concerning losses. This negative aspect is mainly caused by a lack of information regarding political risk and exchange rate risk. Risk management is also necessary referring to change in interest rates. It is possible to limit control and organize the interest rate risk as well as other risks of the company. As the financial outcome of a company gains importance risk management concerning interest rates and exchange rates is thus essential. To face these risks and other problems that derive of variations in stock markets interest markets or
