Managing Land Use Conflicts Case Studies In Special Area Management Duke:

Managing Land-use Conflicts David J. Brower, Daniel S. Carol, 1987 This work contains a series of case studies of the planning phenomenon that has become known as Special Area Management SAM those areas so naturally valuable so important for human use so sensitive to impact or so particular in their planning requirements as to need special management treatment Based on an examination of the SAMs this work integrates various aspects of the process of their planning and management and proposes policy and administrative guidelines to improve SAMs as a planning tool

Proceedings of the Eleventh Annual ESRI User Conference ,1991 Handbook of Environmental Psychology

Robert B. Bechtel, Arza Churchman, 2003-01-17 An international team of leading scholars explores the latest theories research and applications critical to environmental psychology Featuring the latest research and concepts in the field straight from the world's leading scholars and practitioners Handbook of Environmental Psychology provides a balanced and comprehensive overview of this rapidly growing field Bringing together contributions from an international team of top researchers representing a myriad of disciplines this groundbreaking resource provides you with a pluralistic approach to the field as an interdisciplinary effort with links to other disciplines Addressing a variety of issues and practice settings Handbook of Environmental Psychology is divided into five organized and accessible parts to provide a thorough overview of the theories research and applications at the forefront of environmental psychology today Part I deals with sharpening theories Part II links the subject to other disciplines Part III focuses on methods Part IV highlights applications and Part V examines the future of the field Defining the ongoing revolution in thinking about how the environment and psychology interact Handbook of Environmental Psychology is must reading for anyone coping directly with the attitudes beliefs and behaviors that are destroying our environment and putting our lives in jeopardy Topics include Healthy design Restorative environments Links to urban planning Contaminated environments Women's issues Environments for aging Climate weather and crime The history and future of disaster research Children's environments Personal space in a digital age Community planning Disputes Resolution in Urban Communities in Contemporary China Jieren Hu, 2020-11-06 This book explains the causes process and results of group disputes in urban communities the empirical experiences from Shanghai in China It explores the means and characteristics of as well as the differences in conflict resolution in various forms of state society relations particularly the ways of dealing with and resolving disputes concerning mass incidents involving government interests in China's current social transformation period It also analyzes how people's mediation organizations interact with the local government when managing and defusing collective disputes Combining the relevant theories and five conflict resolution measurement models created by Blake and Mouton 1964 this book explains the current interaction model and cooperation mechanism between the state and social organizations in China To do so it examines the role of the Lin Le People's Mediation Workroom in dealing with community collective disputes and the respective action strategies and constraints The book argues that the current state social relations in China are not centered on society or the state but on state led social pluralism

Contested Lands Robert J. Mason,1992 The nation s first and only national reserve the Pinelands of New Jersey is located in the middle of the densely populated urban corridor between New York City and Philadelphia Possessing vast quantities of pure groundwater distinct flora and fauna and a fascinating history of human occupancy and resource exploitation the Pine Barrens is managed by a 15 member commission appointed at the federal state and local level In his discussion of the implementation of the Pinelands Commission s regional plan Robert Mason explores the changing politics of place and the associated conflicts of interest that have emerged The Pinelands program is widely viewed as a land use and regional planning experiment of national significance While the commission is sustained by legislative and gubernatorial support and an absence of well organized public opposition it still has had to accommodate community and rural entrepreneurial interests In order to convey some sense of the social political and economic texture of the Pinelands Mason examines three communities Woodland Township Hamilton Township and Manchester Township The Pinelands experience offers a unique model for the management of valued places across the nation and provides valuable lessons about the human problems that confront ecologically driven planning schemes with human settlement patterns political subdivisions and economic systems Author note Robert J Mason is Assistant Professor of Geography and Urban Studies at Temple University

Resolving Public Conflict E. Franklin Dukes,1996 Drawing on conflict resolution experience and recent democratic theory Dukes traces the philosophical roots and development of the public conflict resolution field He examines in detail how it has worked in practice in the US and other western democracies

Protected Areas and Indigenous Communities Azra Musavi,2015-09-08 This book deals with protected area people interface in Bori Wildlife Sanctuary and Melghat Tiger Reserve located in Satpura range of Central Indian Highlands These forests are mostly inhabited by Gond Korku and Thatia tribes a small population of agro pastoral community and other backward classes which have moved into these forests from adjoining areas in search of pastures for their large herds of livestock Bori in northern Satpura has moist deciduous forest while Melghat in southern Satpura hills has dry deciduous forest Both protected areas are renowned for tigers as well as for a rich faunal and floral diversity These forests are under increasing anthropogenic pressure due to people living in and around the two protected areas The book looks at three aspects which are a challenge for protected area management One it explores the web of both tribal and non tribal life as the intervention of market economy and increasing population have led to change in the basis of the local subsistence economy Secondly it tries to assess the extent of impact of biotic dependence on the forests of both protected areas Thirdly and most importantly it examines the park people conflicts and their implications for the management of both protected areas

Integrated Coastal Management Law Cormac Cullinan,2006-01-01 Integrated coastal management ICM is widely accepted throughout the world as the best approach to dealing with coastal issues The 1990s saw a proliferation of legislative reform processes worldwide This aimed at supporting the implementation of ICM Despite many international environmental treaties declarations and other promises of action the quality of coastal environments continues to deteriorate while the demand for coastal resources has increased in most of the world This publication in its practical guidance will be especially valuable to anyone involved in the development drafting or implementation of a legal or institutional framework to promote ICM It is enhanced by illustrative examples from a range of countries that are at various stages of developing and implementing legislation to promote ICM

Collaborative Planning for Wetlands and Wildlife Douglas R. Porter, David Salvesen, 2013-03-19 Collaborative Planning for Wetlands and Wildlife presents numerous case studies that demonstrate how different communities have creatively reconciled problems between developers and environmentalists It answers questions asked by regulators environmentalists and developers who seek practical alternatives to the existing case by case permitting process and offers valuable lessons from past and ongoing areawide planning efforts

Transport Geopolitics Luc Ampleman, 2021-09-27 This book provides readers with fresh new theoretical tools to better understand how sociopolitical actors from governmental institutions to ecological NGOs from local residents to multinational companies clash about transport initiatives It questions both the dominant understanding of what is geopolitics and conventional conceptions in transport geography used by transport planners Drawing on a structuralist approach and addressing the capital notion of political control of mobility it demonstrates how transport geopolitics by being more inclusive of all modes of transport and all scales of analysis may help prepare transport diplomacy in a time of critical global and local turbulences It offers a valuable resource for research and teaching in the fields of transport studies land use planning conflict studies human geography and politics presenting insightful theoretical material and concrete transport conflict examples to support teaching about territorial conflicts political governance and transport political geography
