

Managing service Quality

- The service quality of a firm is tested at each service encounter. If service personnel are bored, cannot answer simple questions, or visiting with each other while customers are waiting, customers will think twice about doing business again with that seller.
- Customer expectations: customers form service expectations from many sources, such as past experiences, word of mouth, and advertising. Customers compare the perceived service with the expected service. If the perceived service falls below the expected service, customers are disappointed.
- If the perceived service meets or exceeds their expectations, they are suitable to use the provider again. Successful companies add benefits to their offering that not only satisfy customers but surprise and delight them.

Services Management: Conceptualizing and Measuring Customer Perceived Service Quality Tim Ebner, 2013-02-12 Seminar paper from the year 2011 in the subject Business economics Offline Marketing and Online Marketing grade 2 3 University of M nster Junior Professorship for Marketing language English abstract Service Quality is a field of marketing which stimulated numerous scholars to do theoretical and empirical research on The SERVQUAL concept first was amongst concepts like The Nordic Model by Gr nroos 1984 and The Three Component Model by Rust and Oliver 1994 and SERVPERF by Cronin and Taylor 1992 After there has been a major debate which role expectations should play for service quality which primary dimensions should be used to conceptualize and measure it and how service quality has to be integrated in existing marketing theory newer approaches concentrate either on the depth of these dimensions further optimization of the integration of service quality into marketing theory or specific factors which might play a role on distinct settings In a multilevel approach primary dimensions can be understood as direct antecedents of service quality Subdimensions are antecedents of the primary dimensions of service quality This paper deals with the issue how customer perceived service quality CPSQ is supposed to be conceptualized and measured In order to do this the first section begins simply with several ideas that came up in literature what factors might influence service quality and how it can be defined Then the paper illustrates why generality of theories is useful in Marketing Research and how it can be achieved Moreover an adequate framework to justify or reject particular concepts and measurements of service quality is provided In the third section the paper continues with the introduction of concepts and measurements of service quality Attention is given to broader approaches as well as specific approaches of service quality The paper combines these approaches in the fourth section with the help of the diagnostic framework provided before in order to achieve a concept of CPSQ with an optimal degree of generality Thereafter the paper closes with a conclusion that gives a r sum on the results of this work Managing Service Quality Paul Kunst,Jos Lemmink,1997-06-28 This book contains a variety of theory based and practice driven approaches for improving service quality Among these approaches are the notion that core service can only lead to customer evaluations ranging from neutral to dissatisfied The book also includes practical information on measurement instruments for service quality in railway services tourism universities advertising agencies and accountants and methods for providing help and support for managers who want to measure service quality in their own organizations It advocates that service processes and immediate campaign results of advertising agencies are the most important drivers for quality perception of business customers throughout the whole business relationship Other approaches discussed are hands on instruments for business to business market research such as the customer value workshop for identifying the key customer values and a new self organizing approach to service planning Service Quality Management Peter D. Quality: Customer Service Satisfaction in Market and Intra-Company Exchanges Paul Kunst,Jos Lemmink, Service Quality and Management Bernd Stauss,Jos Lemmink,Paul Kunst,2013-06-29 Introduction Are services millennium proof Certainly not At least not at this moment There is no thorough research needed to derive that conclusion simply ask around The evidence is overwhelming True horror stories exist of all types of services in all types of sectors It is even becoming a business in itself Television shows that are based on customer complaints about services are becoming more and more popular As is the case in the millennium problem management of service companies experiences a lot of problems in the hardware and the software of services There are still problems in defining and developing the service and problems in creating realizing and managing well defined services Is there than no progress at all We believe there is The enormous attention for services has its advantages as well. In various places innovations are realized and what is more important are linked to theory. Only in this way learning becomes possible. Eventually innovative practice will reflect in the development of theory and in turn good practice will be based on solid theory. This series tries to support this process by presenting a number of innovative practices and examples of testing theory in service quality marketing and management.
