J. Smit, 2007 Book CD To improve on an award winning book poses a major challenge to its authors The authors of this book took the challenge head on by conducting a major research study to determine what exactly the outcomes are that managers at different levels must deliver in contemporary organisations in South Africa and the rest of Africa The findings of this study which dealt with current and near future management issues as well as classical and contemporary thinking about management were used as the blueprint for the updating of this book After placing management in context the authors deal with the knowledge skills and dispositions required of managers to perform the management functions of planning organising leading and controlling in a volatile business world Examples of how the functions are applied in practice are cited throughout the book These examples refer mainly to South African organisations and situations that managers in South Africa and Africa have to deal with to create and sustain a competitive advantage for their organisations The book endeavours to break down the silo effect of seeing the management functions as separate activities This is done by continuously placing the management function at hand in a bigger context This enables learners of management to assess the implications of management decisions on different people processes systems and so on that make up the organisation

Managing the Environmental Crisis William Russell Mangun,Daniel H. Henning,1999 Second edition With a new foreword by Lynton Keith Caldwell In Managing the Environmental Crisis William R Mangun and Daniel H Henning provide a balanced and comprehensive guide to the management of complex environmental and natural resource policy issues Taking into account new developments trends and issues that have arisen in recent years the authors begin with the recognition often overlooked that it is not the environment that needs to be managed but human action relating to the environment The authors review issues associated with a range of environmental policy concerns including energy considerations renewable and non renewable resource management pollution control wilderness management and urban and regional policy The history of these issues recent actions pertaining to their management difficulties associated with their continued presence and the consequences of a failure to address these concerns are explored Though focused on specific political issues Mangun and Henning direct their attention to two large scale trends globalization and the political polarization of the environmental movement At the level of the decision making process the incorporation of values specifically addressed from multicultural and cross disciplinary perspectives is also discussed International in scope the book provides descriptions of the roles of both governmental and nongovernmental organizations in the formulations and implementation of national and global environmental policy This thoroughly revised second edition discusses various successes in the arenas of environmental cooperation and management strategy while pointing to the new challenges that have emerged in the last decade The Self-Managing Environment Alan Roberts,1980 To find more information about Rowman and Littlefield titles please visit www.rowmanlittlefield.com

sustainable development is a source of inspiration for many who see it as a call to cooperative action In practice however policies intended to further this goal often generate conflicts of interest The ensuing disputes occur among governmental organizations but disputes also arise between public authorities private interest groups and the environmental movement In the opinion of the authors the fact that environmental policy can provoke such conflict may be attributed largely to decision making procedures in our society Accordingly the authors are convinced that a new approach to managing environmental disputes is needed in order to deal effectively with environmental problems Indeed this book presents a viable alternative which is called network management Managing the Changing Environment : Speech Alberta Environment Conservation Authority,Walter R. Trost,1973 Text of speech describing the role of the Environment Conservation Authority in environmental management Growing Pains Walter Wehrmeyer,Yacob Mulugetta,2017-10-19 Environmental management is a global phenomenon embracing all businesses in all countries whether or not there already exists an organised response to managing environmental impacts Today there are gross inequalities between the world's richest and poorest nations in terms of income distribution consumption patterns access to resources and environmental impact Yet both the developed north and the developing south are committed at least in words to achieving sustainable development Public awareness of environmental issues in the North has been rising in recent years and further degradation is now largely minimized through more stringent regulatory regimes voluntary agreements and growing consumer and stakeholder pressure on corporations Still the north is continuing to lead an environmentally unsustainable lifestyle as environmental improvements are nullified by overall increases in consumption levels In the south a billion people still do not have access to the most basic needs Poor countries need to accelerate their consumption growth if they are to ensure that the lives of their people are enriched However with rapid economic growth and corresponding increases in consumption now under way their environmental impact is soon to become substantially greater In a world that strives towards stemming global crises such as climate change the path already taken by the rich and high growth economies over the past century cannot be repeated by the south if the desired objective is to create a future that is truly sustainable Growing Pains examines environmental management in the south from a number of perspectives It is designed to stimulate the discussion about the role that corporations and national and international organizations play in sustainable development It does not offer panaceas as each country has its own problems and opportunities and after almost 50 years of failed panacea oriented economic development policy transfer from the north to the south it is time to abandon hope for universal solutions and instead look to individual approaches that work The book is divided into five themes globalization the role of business a focus on national strategies trade and the environment and the organizational and structural challenges of sustainable development With contributions from an outstanding collection of authors in both the developed and developing worlds including UNIDO the Thailand Environment Institute Arthur D Little Inc Shell Peru IUCN the Russian Academy of Sciences and IIED this important and unique new book presents a body of work that will provide essential reading for businesses working in developing countries environmental and developmental NGOs and researchers engaged in the debate and sharing of best practice in this increasingly critical subject area

Managing Environmental and Energy Transitions for Regions and Cities OECD,2020-11-18 This report offers guidance on how to prepare regions and cities for the transition towards a climate neutral and circular economy by 2050 and is directed to all policymakers seeking to identify and implement concrete and ambitious transition pathways It describes how cities regions and rural areas can manage the transition in a range of policy domains including energy supply conversion and use the transformation of mobility systems and land use practices

Business Environment John Kew,John Stredwick,2005 The text offers an accessible approach to the subject area with a strong focus on the business rather than purely an economic context The style is practical and case study led rather than theoretical and academic The practical implications of theories will be emphasised and practical examples used This accessible text gives a good understanding of the business environment outlining the key environmental influences economic social legal as an aid to developing an appreciation of business strategy at every level The practical implications of theory are emphasised and supported by examples The text includes chapter objectives student activities end of chapter questions a glossary and lists of further reading and there is also a tutor support website The text is designed to cater for all students studying an undergraduate or postgraduate module in the business environment area the new Managing in a Strategic Business Context module as part of the new CIPD Leadership and Management
