Friars, Scribes, and Corpses Kimberly J. Vrudny, 2010 The Speculum humanae salvationis Mirror of Human Salvation a medieval book recounting in forty five chapters the story of human redemption within the larger context of the Virgin Mary's life was something of a best seller in the Middle Ages surviving in over 400 copies Because the author wrote anonymously however little about the book's initial context is known despite a century's long effort to uncover the author's identity Friars Scribes and Corpses investigates a Marian confraternal setting for the Speculum's emergence and newly proposes consideration of Nicola da Milano as the poem's author Its central chapters show how the scribes who copied the Speculum preserved the author's rhetorical considerations that served so well the purposes of Marian confraternal preaching including elements that suit memory training techniques used in the Middle Ages such as building an architectural structure in one's mind tagging memories with emotion and internalizing the transformative nature of spiritual lessons The final chapter asserts that the poem's lessons would have been particularly desired in the context of plague when the number of corpses threatened to destroy people's faith in a merciful God Friars Scribes and Corpses challenges assumptions about the Speculum as well as the dominantly held view that there was an overwhelming emphasis on death in the late medieval period Rather this book demonstrates that there was a competing emphasis on life as glimpsed in the glass of the Speculum have functioned like performance events By revealing the remarkable resonance between cognitive science and medieval visual theories Stevenson demonstrates how understanding medieval culture can enrich the study of performance generally She concludes by applying her theories of medieval performance culture to contemporary religious forms including creationist museums Hell Houses and megachurches Experiencing Materiality Valentina Gamberi,2021-02-03
