Miss Claringdons Condition:

Isabel Clarendon George Gissing, 2017-07-12 From Salcot East to Winstoke there are two roads known respectively as the old and the new The latter was made about the middle of the present century the old road is immemorial By the modern highway the distance between the two parishes is rather less than five miles pursue the other and you fetch a compass of well nigh ten taking into account all the inexplicable windings and angularities between the White Hart Inn at Salcot where the roads disdainfully part company to Winstoke Rectory where they unite and form the village street It says much for ancestral leisureliness in that north west corner of shire that the old way ever established itself or being established was used to so recent a date on the other hand the construction of the new thoroughfare looks remarkably like a practical joke perpetrated at their own expense by the good people of the country side seeing that this activity displayed itself just when it was least called for Formerly there was a silk manufactory at Salcot East and direct communication with the neighbouring parish would have been a convenience only when the industry in question had fallen into complete decay and when it could not matter to any one whether it took one hour or two to reach Win stoke where not even a market was held did the inhabitants tax themselves for the great undertaking Isabel Clarendon (Vol. 1&2) George Gissing, 2020-09-11 Isabel Clarendon is a young woman who gets married and enjoys all the traits that life offers but it doesn't last Her husband gets ill and goes through three years of agony before he dies Isabel whose mother also died then meets Bernard Kingcote lonely and eccentric man who is left to make a way in the world without the bourgeois advantage of family money Unaware of that they have already met very long time ago the two become friends and their relationship slowly develops to something more However with Isabel's relived tragedy and Kingcote's eccentric ways their relationship encounters troubles _x000D_ _x000D_ _x000D_ _x000D_ Royal Intrigue Deborah Chester, 1982 Helen Maria Edgeworth, 1893 Isabel Clarendon (Historical Novel) George Gissing, 2021-05-07 Isabel Clarendon is a young woman who gets married and enjoys all the traits that life offers but it doesn't last Her husband gets ill and goes through three years of agony before he dies Isabel whose mother also died then meets Bernard Kingcote lonely and eccentric man who is left to make a way in the world without the bourgeois advantage of family money Unaware of that they have already met very long time ago the two become friends and their relationship slowly develops to something more However with Isabel's relived tragedy and Kingcote's eccentric ways their relationship encounters troubles Ageing, Gender, and Illness in Anglophone Literature Heike Hartung, 2015-12-07 This study establishes age as a category of literary history delineating age in its interaction with gender and narrative genre Based on the historical premise that the view of ageing as a burden emerges as a specific narrative in the late eighteenth century the study highlights how the changing experience of ageing is shaped by that of gender By reading the Bildungsroman as a coming of age novel the book asks how the telling of a life in time affects individual age narratives Bringing together the different perspectives of age and disability studies the book argues that illness is already an important issue in the Bildungsroman's narratives of ageing This theoretical stance provides new interpretations of canonical novels visiting authors such as Johann Wolfgang Goethe Frances Burney Maria Edgeworth Jane Austen Charles Dickens George Eliot Samuel Beckett and Jonathan Franzen Drawing on the link between age and illness in the Bildungsroman's age narratives the genre of dementia narrative is presented as one of the directions which the Bildungsroman takes after its classical period Applying these theoretical perspectives to canonical novels of the nineteenth century and to the new genre of dementia narrative the volume also provides new insights into literary and genre history This book introduces a new theoretical approach to cultural age studies and offers a comprehensive analysis of the connection between narratology literary theory gender and age studies
