Pomponius Mela's Description of the World Pomponius Mela, Frank E. Romer, 1998 The first modern translation of one of the world's earliest ethnographies    Mapping Antarctica Robert Clancy, John Manning, Henk Brolsma, 2013-12-02 Everyone likes maps and maps are always used to illustrate the many books on the Antarctic. Here the focus is reversed with contemporary maps telling the story one that should be attractive to the widest audience as it is a unique approach complimenting what has gone before and providing something different for all interested in Antarctica    Disease Maps Tom Koch, 2011-06-30 In the seventeenth century a map of the plague suggested a radical idea that the disease was carried and spread by humans. In the nineteenth century maps of cholera cases were used to prove its waterborne nature. More recently maps charting the swine flu pandemic caused worldwide panic and sent shockwaves through the medical community. In Disease Maps Tom Koch contends that to understand epidemics and their history we need to think about maps of varying scale from the individual body to shared symptoms evidenced across cities, nations and the world. Disease Maps begins with a brief review of epidemic mapping today and a detailed example of its power. Koch then traces the early history of medical cartography including pandemics such as European plague and yellow fever and the advancements in anatomy, printing and world atlases that paved the way for their mapping. Moving on to the scourge of the nineteenth century cholera, Koch considers the many choleras argued into existence by the maps of the day including a new perspective on John Snow's science and legacy. Finally Koch addresses contemporary outbreaks such as AIDS, cancer and H1N1 and reaches into the future toward the coming epidemics. Ultimately Disease Maps redefines conventional medical history with new surgical precision revealing that only in maps do patterns emerge that allow disease theories to be proposed, hypotheses tested and treatments advanced    Catalogue of Ancient and Modern Books in All Languages on Sale James Bohn, James George Stuart Burges Bohn, 1840    *A Bibliographical Description of a copy of the collection of the Great and Small Voyages of De Bry in the library of the late John Carter Brown of Providence.
