Bachelor Thesis from the year 2005 in the subject Economics International Economic Relations grade 1 0 J nk ping International Business School course Economics 26 entries in the bibliography language English abstract Mexico has concluded various free trade agreements over the last decade with NAFTA and the EU Mexico FTA being the most important ones In this paper the effect of both agreements on bilateral trade is presented through descriptive statistics on the one hand and by applying a time series analysis in the form of an export and import demand function on the other The results of the graphical analysis indicate that the coming into force of NAFTA has led to a rise in Mexico s trade with that bloc even though the econometric analysis does not support the assertion that the conclusion of the agreement is responsible for that The EU Mexico FTA has not led to a significant rise in Mexico s exports to the EU mainly due to transport costs These costs are also the dominant factor in explaining exports from Mexico to its NAFTA partners and therefore lead to the conclusion that the change in transport costs over time is more important than tariff reductions granted by the parties Interestingly Mexico s imports from these two blocs are mainly determined by Mexico s GDP and the exchange rate rather than by transport costs Export-import Theory, Practices, and Procedures Belay Seyoum,2000 Presents an in depth analysis of international trade theories and techniques Explains concepts underlying international trade operations recommends goals and procedures for businesses and discusses price setting export sales contracts risks of foreign trade and methods of payment Explores trade agreements such as GATT WTO and NAFTA and how they affect trade in areas including investment and intellectual property
