Methods for Intercultural Communication Research William B. Gudykunst, Young Yun Kim, 1984-04 The methodology behind intercultural communication research has been largely neglected by scholars of intercultural communication The aim of this volume is to advance the study of intercultural communication and move away from the current abstract stage of development The editors have collected contributions which examine the skills necessary to have a firm grounding in general methodological issues research techniques statistics methods for doing comparative sociology and methods of traditional anthropology Essays also deal with problems arising from such research and the sociology of knowledge of intercultural communication as opposed to cross cultural communication Two features make this volume exceptional First Research Methods in Intercultural Communication Zhu Hua, 2016-01-19 Research Methods in Intercultural Communication introduces and contextualizes the most important methodological issues in the field for upper level undergraduate and graduate students Examples of these issues are which paradigms and how to research multilingually interculturality and ethnically Provides the first dedicated and most comprehensive volume on research methods in intercultural communication research in the last 30 years Explains new and emerging methods as well as more established ones These include Matched Guise Technique Discourse Completion Task Critical Incident Technique Critical Discourse Analysis Ethnography Virtual Ethnography Corpus Analysis Multimodality Conversation Analysis Narrative Analysis Questionnaire and Interview Assists readers in determining the most suitable method for various research questions conceptualizing the research process interpreting results and drawing conclusions Supports students from start to finish with key terms suggestions for further reading research summaries and sound guidance from experienced scholars and researchers Methods for Intercultural Communications Research William B. Gudykunst, Young Yun Kim, 1984 Intercultural Communication James W. Neuliep, 2016-12-27 In the fully updated Seventh Edition of Intercultural Communication A Contextual Approach bestselling author James W Neuliep provides a clear contextual model visually depicted by a series of concentric circles for examining communication within cultural microcultural environmental sociorelational and perceptual contexts Students are first introduced to the broadest context the cultural component of the model and progress chapter by chapter through the model to the most specific dimensions of communication Each chapter focuses on one context and explores the combination of factors within that context including setting situation and circumstances Highlighting values ethnicity physical geography and attitudes the book examines means of interaction including body language eye contact and exchange of words as well as the stages of relationships cross cultural management intercultural conflict and culture shock Intercultural Communication Marshall R. Singer, 1987 Politics within Parentheses Georgina Gabor, 2017-08-21 The book purports to mediate between various culturally determined profiles of the discipline of Communication Studies While it directs the reader's attention to landmark American texts in intercultural communication it also signals the potential to make reading a relational praxis thus writing a way out of the disciplinary meta narratives of identification Through its focus on studies which employ critical or auto ethnographic methods the book represents a mediator of cultural meanings Its unique approach resides in the offering of a personal incursion through the texts under scrutiny which allows the reader a pathway a practical orientation towards criticism in general and the appropriate means to perform it Perception & Identity in Intercultural Communication Marshall R. Singer,1998 This dynamic revision is updated and retitled to more accurately reflect its content In it Singer explores the communication process and the manner in which perception and identity affect communication on every level of interaction Interprersonal intergroup and international From his analysis of cultural and group identities each individual develops he argues convincingly that all individuals are culturally unique and that all communication therefore is to some degree intercultural Effective Intercultural Communication Alexis Tan,2015-11-05 The Intercultural Communication Guidebook Research based Strategies for Successful Interactions is a guide to successfully interacting with people from different cultures and thus developing satisfying relationships Conversational in tone the book illustrates concepts with examples from the world of everyday experience Students become familiar with relevant research theories that explain and predict strategies that work and suggestions on how and when to use these strategies Using the most recent data and studies the book discusses intercultural interactions from the perspectives of the participants emphasizing the importance of knowing both oneself and others Topics include identity management negotiation and developing cultural competency in a variety of situations These situations range from casual social encounters to the more permanent relationships between immigrants and host cultures in business and political negotiations group and organizational communication and communications moderated by mass and internet media An informed blend of theory that explains what works in communication and why research based evidence and suggestions for practical use The Intercultural Communication Guidebook is suitable for undergraduate courses in intercultural communication global communication and communication and diversity Alexis Tan who earned his Ph D in mass communication at the University of Wisconsin is a professor of communication a former Senior Fulbright Award winner and the author of over sixty journal articles and book chapters Dr Tan was the inaugural University Faculty Diversity Fellow and the founding director of the Edward R Murrow School of Communication at Washington State University He is a past president of the Association for Education in Journalism and Mass Communication and the author of Mass Communication Theories and Research Communication and Prejudice Theories Effects and Interventions and Global Mass Communication and Journalism Research forthcoming He has lectured and done research in over twenty countries Intercultural Communication Competence Richard L. Wiseman,Jolene Koester,1993-02 Published in cooperation with the Speech Communication Association Division on International and Intercultural Communication The editors should be commended as the volume presents the latest thinking and research from scholars within the intercultural field and more broadly from the speech communication discipline For those interested in learning more about various communication based theories and approaches to the study of intercultural competence I highly recommend they take a close look at this book I found the introductory chapter by Koester Wiseman and Sanders extremely valuable in integrating the various perspectives represented by the authors Their discussion of the starting points for the study of the intercultural communication competence was very well written Part I focused on conceptual issues and it includes an excellent review article by Judith Martin about the various approaches taken in the study of intercultural communication competence William Gudykunst's anxiety uncertainty management chapter is perhaps the clearest and most practical extension to date of his extensive theoretical research program on uncertainty and anxiety reduction processes It is tightly written with examples and elaborated explanations of key constructs that relate to intercultural effectiveness I found this chapter Myron Lustig and Brian Spitzberg's methodological concerns relevant to the study of intercultural communication competence to be one of the most targeted analyses of research methods for examining communication competence within the distinctly different intercultural arena This chapter provides a blueprint for research design decision making on studying the difficult phenomenon of intercultural communication competence Donal Carbaugh's ethnographic approach for identifying the verbal means and meanings in social interaction is exciting creative insightful and practical I highly recommend Intercultural Communication Competence for a graduate level theory course in intercultural communication and more generally for any course that focuses on cross cultural interaction Further this book would be a welcome addition for a graduate level intercultural research course Overall Wiseman and Koester have edited a high quality intercultural book that focuses on a complex communication phenomenon I urge anyone interested in this important topic to read Intercultural Communication Competence Mitchell R Hammer The American University International Journal of Intercultural Relations Contemporary societies have witnessed the greatest migration of human populations in recorded history Accordingly interactions among citizens of these societies are becoming increasingly intercultural By gathering the most current research theories and methods from the leading scholars in the field Intercultural Communication Competence is the state of the art study on intercultural communication competence and effectiveness Part I analyzes the conceptual decisions made in intercultural communication competence research by examining decisions regarding conceptualization operationalization research design and sampling In Part Two the contributors present four different theoretical orientations while illustrating how each person's theoretical bias directs the focus of research The essays in the final section examine both qualitative and quantitative approaches to intercultural communication competence research With exemplary conceptual and empirical studies scholars researchers teachers and students alike will find a wealth of information in this tightly edited book
