Teaching Literature to Adolescents Richard Beach,Deborah Appleman,Bob Fecho,Rob Simon,2016-03-10 This popular textbook introduces prospective and practicing English teachers to current methods of teaching literature in middle and high school classrooms It underscores the value of providing students with a range of different critical approaches and tools for interpreting texts and the need to organize literature instruction around topics and issues of interest to them. Throughout the textbook readers are encouraged to raise and explore inquiry based questions in response to authentic dilemmas and issues they face in the critical literature classroom. New in this edition the text shows how these approaches to fostering responses to literature also work as rich tools to address the Common Core English Language Arts Standards. Each chapter is organized around specific questions that English educators often hear in working with pre service teachers. Suggested pedagogical methods are modelled by inviting readers to interact with the book through critical inquiry methods for responding to texts. Readers are engaged in considering authentic dilemmas and issues facing literature teachers through inquiry based responses to authentic case narratives. A Companion Website <http://teachingliterature.pbworks.com> provides resources and enrichment activities inviting teachers to consider important issues in the context of their current or future classrooms. Media and Information Literacy Marcus Leaning, 2017-03-31 Media and Information Literacy An Integrated Approach for the 21st Century provides a novel rationale for the integration of media and information literacy and gives direction to contemporary media and information literacy education. The book takes a synthetic approach to these two areas presenting critical histories of both. The book explores the influence of political forces and educational practice on media literacy and the contemporary media environment focusing on computing and mobile technology as a platform for existing and non computational media. The final section considers a new rationale for the adjustment of content and activities into a combined project building on a range of skills from contemporary media reconsidering the mission of media literacy and advocating that media and information literacy be expanded out of the classroom and positioned as a public pedagogy. Proposes a new route direction for media and information literacy. Combines critical histories of media literacy and information literacy. Integrates an account of technological development as a key driver to educational activities while retaining core progressive intents.
