Communicating Marginalized Masculinities Ronald L. Jackson, Jamie E. Moshin, 2013 For years research concerning masculinities has explored the way that men have dominated exploited and dismantled societies asking how we might make sense of marginalized masculinities in the context of male privilege This volume asks not only how terms such as men and masculinity are socially defined and culturally instantiated but also how the media has constructed notions of masculinity that have kept minority masculinities on the margins. Essays explore marginalized masculinities as communicated through film, television and new media, visiting representations and marginalized identity politics while also discussing the dangers and pitfalls of a media pedagogy that has taught audiences to ignore, sidestep and stereotype marginalized group realities. While dominant portrayals of masculine versus feminine characters pervade numerous television and film examples, this collection examines heterosexual and queer, military and civilian, as well as Black, Japanese, Indian, White and Latino masculinities, offering a variance in masculinities and confronting male privilege as represented on screen, appealing to a range of disciplines and a wide scope of readers. Out of Bounds

Lori Latrice Martin, 2014-04-17. This collection of essays highlights the controversies surrounding racism in sports and African American athletes, examining the racial discrimination that exists in one of the most public arenas in the 21st century. Despite increasing diversity in the American population, race and racial bias continue to be significant issues in the United States. Sports, one of the most visible and important subsets of American culture, directly reflect our society's beliefs about race. This book examines racial controversy and conflict in various sports in the United States in both previous eras as well as the current Age of Obama. The essays in the work explain how racial ideologies are created and recreated in all areas of public life, including the world of sports. The authors address a wide range of sports, including ones where racial minorities are in the numerical minority, such as hockey. Specific topics covered include the devaluation of black athletes, racism in Major League Baseball, and the treatment of black female athletes.

Betrayal Houston A. Baker, 2008. Houston A. Baker Jr. condemns those black intellectuals who he believes have turned their backs on the tradition of racial activism in America. These individuals choose personal gain over the interests of the black majority, whether they are espousing neoconservative positions that distort the contours of contemporary social and political dynamics or abandoning race as an important issue in the study of American literature and culture. Most important, they do a disservice to the legacy of W. E. B. Du Bois, Martin Luther King Jr. and others who have fought for black rights. In the literature, speeches and academic and public behavior of some black intellectuals in the past quarter century, Baker identifies a hungry generation eager for power, respect and money. Baker critiques his own impoverished childhood in the Little Africa section of Louisville, Kentucky, to understand the shaping of this new public figure. He also revisits classical sites of African American literary and historical criticism and critique. Baker devotes chapters to the writing and thought of such black academic superstars as Cornel West, Michael Eric Dyson and Henry Louis Gates Jr., Hoover Institution senior fellow Shelby Steele, Yale law professor Stephen Carter and Manhattan Institute fellow John McWhorter. His provocative investigation into their disingenuous posturing exposes what Baker deems a tragic betrayal of King's legacy. Baker concludes with a discussion of American myth and the role of the U.S. prison industrial complex in the disappearing of blacks. Baker claims King would have criticized these black intellectuals for not persistently raising their voices against a private prison system that incarcerates so many men and women of color. To remedy this situation Baker urges black intellectuals to forge both sacred and secular connections with local communities and rededicate themselves to social responsibility As he sees it the mission of the black intellectual today is not to do great things but to do specific racially based work that is in the interest of the black majority The Hip Hop Reader Timothy Francis Strode, Tim Wood, 2008 Composition and hip hop may seem unrelated but the connection isn't hard to make Hip hop and rap rely on a complex of narrative practices that have clear ties to some of the best American essay writing A Hip Hop Reader brings together work about this cultural phenomenon and provides selections that represent a variety of styles and interests
