

How to Practice Mindfulness

1

Take a seat. Find a place to sit that feels calm and quiet to you.

2

Set a time limit. If you're just beginning, it can help to choose a short time, such as 5 or 10 minutes.

3

Notice your body. You can sit or kneel however is comfortable for you. Just make sure you are stable and in a position, you can stay in for a while.

4

Feel your breath. Follow the sensation of your breath as it goes out and as it goes in.

5

Notice when your mind has wandered. When you get around to noticing this—in a few seconds, a minute, five minutes—simply return your attention to the breath.

Be kind to your wandering mind. Don't judge yourself or obsess over the content of the thoughts you find yourself lost in. Just come back.

Mindfulness Meditation for Chronic Pain Margaret Maglione,2016 RAND researchers conducted a systematic review that synthesized evidence from randomized controlled trials of mindfulness meditation interventions used adjunctively or as monotherapy to provide estimates of their efficacy and safety in alleviating chronic pain in adults Outcomes of interest included changes in pain symptomatology use of analgesics functional status health related quality of life functional impairment disability measures and adverse events Meta analyses for efficacy outcomes were conducted using the Hartung Knapp Sidik Jonkman method for random effects models Quality of evidence was assessed using the Grades of Recommendation Assessment Development and Evaluation or GRADE approach In total 28 studies met inclusion criteria Mindfulness meditation was associated with a small effect of improved pain symptoms compared with control groups in a meta analysis of 24 randomized controlled trials However there was evidence of substantial heterogeneity among studies resulting in a low quality of evidence assessment for this outcome We were unable to determine which patient subgroups or intervention characteristics were associated with greater efficacy Mindfulness meditation statistically significantly improved depression and health related quality of life Adverse events were rare and not serious but the vast majority of studies did not collect adverse event data The low quality of evidence prevents any strong conclusions about mindfulness meditation for chronic pain Additional trials with adequate power greater efforts to prevent attrition monitoring of adherence to meditation practice active collection of adverse events and better reporting of methods are suggested Publisher s description

Use of Mindfulness Meditation with

Cancer Patients Adriana C. Marti, 2014. Cancer is a clinically significant illness that affects a substantial percentage of world population and has devastating effects not only on patient's quality of life but also on the massive health care costs that are associated with cancer treatment. Mindfulness meditation is an Eastern practice that focuses on present-moment awareness, non-judgmental stance, and non-attachment to thoughts or experiences. Mindfulness-based programs such as Mindfulness-Based Stress Reduction (MBSR), Mindfulness-Based Acceptance and Commitment Therapy (MBAT), and Mindfulness-Based Cognitive Therapy (MBCT) have proven to be effective with cancer-based populations in enhancing sleep quality, reducing symptoms of anxiety and depression, and in improving physiological symptoms such as heart rate and blood pressure, and overall quality of life. Future research should investigate diversified as well as uniform cancer patients samples by cancer stage and gender.

Mindfulness Meditation for the Treatment of Tobacco Use Margaret Maglione, 2017. RAND researchers conducted a systematic review that synthesized evidence from randomized controlled trials of mindfulness meditation interventions used adjunctively or as monotherapy to provide estimates of their efficacy and safety for treating tobacco use. The primary outcome of interest was smoking tobacco cessation. Other outcomes of interest included reduction in use decrease in cravings health related quality of life and adverse events Meta analyses for efficacy outcomes were conducted using the Hartung Knapp Sidik Jonkman method for random effects models Quality of evidence was assessed using the Grades of Recommendation Assessment Development and Evaluation or GRADE approach Nine studies met inclusion criteria Studies compared mindfulness training for smokers mindfulness training and a mindfulness based smoking cessation program with American Lung Association's Freedom from Smoking program quitline counseling interactive learning or treatment as usual Intervention duration and intensity varied considerably Meta analyses for smoking cessation and cigarettes smoked per day indicated no statistically significant differences between mindfulness interventions and comparator interventions Analysis suggested effects vary by type of intervention Only three studies reported on adverse events they stated that there were no reportable medication reactions associated with the adjunctive nicotine replacement treatment or that no serious adverse events occurred We conclude that the body of evidence for mindfulness meditation for the treatment of tobacco use is very limited Additional high quality studies with samples large enough to detect effects and confirming smoking cessation through biochemical means are suggested Publisher's description     The Modern Review Ramananda Chatterjee, 1913 Includes section Reviews and notices of books
