Jains have over 2500 years defined themselves as a unique religious community This revised and expanded edition takes account of new research into Jainism

Narrating Karma and Rebirth Naomi Appleton, 2014-02-13 Buddhism and Jainism share the concepts of karma rebirth and the desirability of escaping from rebirth The literature of both traditions contains many stories about past and sometimes future lives which reveal much about these foundational doctrines Naomi Appleton carefully explores how multi life stories served to construct communicate and challenge ideas about karma and rebirth within early South Asia examining portrayals of the different realms of rebirth the potential paths and goals of human beings and the biographies of ideal religious figures Appleton also deftly surveys the ability of karma to bind individuals together over multiple lives and the nature of the supernormal memory that makes multi life stories available in the first place This original study not only sheds light on the individual preoccupations of Buddhist and Jain tradition but contributes to a more complete history of religious thought in South Asia and brings to the foreground long neglected narrative sources

Apparitions of the Self 'Jigs-med-gling-pa Rang-byung-rdo-rje, 1998 Apparitions of the Self is a groundbreaking investigation into what is known in Tibet as secret autobiography an exceptional rarely studied literary genre that presents a personal exploration of intimate religious experiences

In this volume Janet Gyatso translates and studies the outstanding pair of secret autobiographies by the famed Tibetan Buddhist visionary Jigme Lingpa 1730 1798 whose poetic and self conscious writings are as much about the nature of his own identity memory and the undecidabilities of autobiographical truth as they are narrations of the actual content of his experiences Their translation in this book marks the first time that works of this sort have been translated in a Western language Gyatso is among the first to consider Tibetan literature from a comparative perspective examining the surprising fit as well as the misfit of Western literary theory with Tibetan autobiography She examines the intriguing questions of why Tibetan Buddhists produced so many autobiographies far more than other Asian Buddhists and how autobiographical self assertion is possible even while Buddhists believe that the self is ultimately an illusion Also explored are Jigme Lingpa s historical milieu his revelatory visions of the ancient Tibetan dynasty and his meditative practices of personal cultivation The book concludes with a study of the subversive female figure of the Dakini in Jigme Lingpa's writings and the implications of her gender, her sexuality and her unsettling discourse for the autobiographical subject in Tibet    Studies in Central and East Asian Religions ,1995    Cahiers d'Extrême-Asie ,2005

Hindu and Jain Mythology of Balarāma Lavanya Vemsani,2006 Studies the evolution of Balarāma in Vaisnavism through comparative analysis of Balarāma stories from selected Hindu puranas asserting that Balarāma was a multifaceted deity of considerable importance in early Vaisnavism The analysis of Balarāma stories provides insight into the long process of the development of Vaisnavism    Gandhi Marg ,1995    Logic and Belief in Indian Philosophy Piotr Balcerowicz,2010 Papers presented at the International Seminar Logic and Belief in Indian Philosophy the Impact of Indian Thought in Asia and Europe held at Bialowierza from 30 April to 5 May 2006    Making and Remaking History Jinhua Chen,1999    Journal of Chinese Religions ,2010    The Journal of Asian Studies ,1995    The Eastern Buddhist ,1994    Illusory Abiding Natasha Lynne Heller,2005    Communication & Cognition ,1999    Subject Guide to Children's Books in Print

Centre for the Study of Religion and Chinese Society,2004 These volumes contain a selection of twenty one essays presented in a conference convened jointly by the Ecole française d'Extrême Orient and the Centre for the Study of Religion and Chinese Society of the Chinese University of Hong Kong on Religion and Chinese Society The Transformation of a Field and Its Implications for the Study of Chinese Culture The collection provides as wide a coverage as possible of recent research in the history of Chinese religion and seeks to draw some tentative conclusions about the implications for the study of Chinese religion and society in general    Ārādhakamūrti/Adhiṣṭhāyakamūrti Jack C. Laughlin,2003 Many aspects of Medieval Western Indian temple art have been the subject of scholarly attention One type of temple image which has been identified but heretofore unstudied is the portrait This study brings together evidence of more than 200 images of historical lay people and ascetics from the medieval temples of Gujarat and Rajasthan The author emphasizes Jain specimens but also includes a number of notable Hindu examples However it is the evidence of the Jain portraits that is by far the most significant This book provides some startling insights into the beliefs and practices of the vēt mbara sect of Jainism in a period from about the 12th to 17th centuries The analysis of lay portraits illuminates some very significant episodes in this period of Jain history The discussion of monks portraits presents much that is contrary to expectation Evidence indicates that even Jain monks donated portraits of other monks This is surprising since gifting is a practice commonly thought to be a lay prerogative and not allowed to ascetics The reasons for these monastic donations are discussed and investigated and reveal that the worldview of medieval Jain monks was often something very different from that portrayed in much of Jain scholarship to date
