Feminist Superheroes Sam Langsdale, 2024-09-17 It's no secret that superhero comics have historically included problematic depictions of women racial and sexual minorities and others who do not fit the standard straight white male model of a hero. Rather than focus on these negative depictions, Langsdale wants to take a more positive approach by looking at recent comics that can be called feminist, with female heroes and creators of all genders that tell new types of stories within the genre. Although these books have usually been marginalized and have suffered premature cancellation, she argues that this marginalization has enabled innovative stories to be told in ways that not only advance the genre but also interact with contemporary social justice concerns. Incorporating intersectionality and feminist theory, Langsdale analyzes complete stories focused on various heroes: Spider Woman, America Chavez, the Unstoppable Wasp, and Ironheart. By exploring different elements of these characters, e.g. Spider Woman's pregnancy, America's identity as a queer mestiza, and the Wasp's creation of a female-run STEM facility, she examines what makes these texts feminist and how they interact with larger issues of inclusion and social justice in ways that more traditional superhero narratives don't and probably can't. She also examines how these characters' appearances in other media have played a part in their development. By focusing on marginalized runs of comics, Langsdale demonstrates how even these can make powerful statements about feminism and the world. English Workbook Kristine Brown, 2005 Excel Basic Skills English Workbook Year 6 will help you with the writing you do every day at school in English and in other subjects. Each chapter looks at a different type of writing. Some are imaginative text types such as narratives and poems, whereas others are factual text types such as reports and explanations. It is best to work through the book from Chapter 1 to the end because in this way you will build on skills from one chapter to the next. The Excel series of English Workbooks for Years 3-6 will help primary school students with the reading and writing they do every day at school in English and in other subjects. Each chapter is set out as a separate unit of work covering a different type of writing, text type, and contains exercises that relate to that particular text type. In this book you will find eleven chapters, each set out as a unit of work covering a particular text type such as narratives, letters, speeches, and information reports, including a chapter on writing for school projects. Exercises and activities in each chapter are directly linked to the text type covered, practice in skills such as spelling, grammar, vocabulary, punctuation, and comprehension, interesting and relevant sample texts, including many written by Year 6 students, with important features highlighted, answers to all questions at the back of the book.
