Other Voices 34 Fiction:

Novel Competition Evan Brier, 2024-04-16 Novel Competition describes the literary and institutional effort to make the American novel matter after 1965. During this era, Hollywood movies, popular music, and other forms of mass-produced culture vied with novels for a specific kind of prestige often figured as importance or relevance that had mostly been attached to novels in previous decades. This trans-media competition Brier argues is a crucial but largely unacknowledged event in the literary and economic history of the American novel. In the face of it, the novel lost some of the symbolic specialness it formerly held. That loss in turn generated not just a much-discussed rhetoric of crisis but also a host of unexamined intertwined effects on both literary form and the business of novel production. Drawing on a range of novels and on the archives of publishers, editors, agents, and authors, Novel Competition shows how fiction's declining position in a transformed popular prestige economy reshaped the post-1965 American novel as art form, cultural institution, and commodity.

Precious Perversions Tison Pugh, 2016-03-21 The tragic sentiment of Southern literature and its heteronormative perspective are foundational attributes generally accepted by both popular and scholarly audiences. Yet a pantheon of great authors ranging from Tennessee Williams, Carson McCullers, and Truman Capote to present-day voices of Alice Walker, John Waters, and David Sedaris collectively attest to both the vibrancy of queer experience and the prevalence of humor found in this rich regional canon. In Precious Perversions: Humor, Homosexuality, and the Southern Literary Canon, Tison Pugh challenges the premises that elevate William Faulkner and diminish Florence King, that esteem Walker Percy yet marginalize David Sedaris by arguing for the inclusion of gay comic authors as long-standing defining voices in the field. By redefining the tenets of Southern literature, Pugh reveals long-overlooked or discounted aspects of gay humor within the South's literary realm. Noting, for example, that Tennessee Williams is revered as a dramatist who probes the heart of the human condition rather than for his submerged camp humor, and Truman Capote's comic cinema and literature never eclipsed serious works, Pugh establishes a history of mainstream and academic critique that ignored queer humor. Likewise, Florence King and Rita Mae Brown wrote defining narratives of Southern lesbian experience in respectively Confessions of a Failed Southern Lady and Rubyfruit Jungle, yet according to Pugh, they are almost entirely neglected in accounts of the literary South. More recently, the author shows the critical reception of Dorothy Allison's Bastard Out of Carolina testifies to an overarching interest in the traumatic aspects of her poetry and fiction rather than in her humor and its cathartic power. Pugh also asserts that David Sedaris, as a writer of the post-Southern South who appears to fall beyond the parameters of regional literature for many readers, creates a new humorous vision of the region that recognizes both its pained history and its grudging accession to modernity. Drawing from works of key Southern writers, Pugh sets forth a new vision of Southern literature, emerges one illuminated by the humor of gay voices no longer at the margins. Choice, 1997 Finding List of English Prose Fiction Public Library of Cincinnati and Hamilton County, 1902 Reading the Other Carol de Dobay
