It's a Print! William Reynolds, Elizabeth Ann Trembley, 1994 The mechanistic age of the twentieth century has required a mechanized medium for expression the production of film dependent from the start on machines such as cameras projectors lights and now more heavily reliant on computers sensitive films miniaturization and sophisticated sound recording devices has flowered in this century not only as a means of popular entertainment but as a critically acclaimed art form These essays highlight true cinematic adaptations as completely different products from films based loosely on the gimmick or plot or character of a certain fiction

The Essence of Film Noir Diana Royer, 2022-06-07 American classic films noir beginning with 1941's The Maltese Falcon and ending with 1950's Sunset Boulevard and the neo noir films made from the 1970s onward share certain thematic aspects stylistic qualities and cultural contexts Their concern with politics their depiction of con artists and the way their characters are shaped by America's puritanical religious roots show that these films are examples of a unique American genre even when the films' directors are German emigres with artistic roots in European Expressionism The films' psychological depth is revealed stylistically through complex narratives with select directors generating visual poetry as they deal with sex violence and betrayal Some films are based on popular novels inspired by true crime cases A unique approach to film noir scholarship this book discusses the genre's thematic aspects cultural contexts and stylistic qualities For those films based upon novels in depth analysis of the fiction is provided alongside the film version resulting in a fuller more thorough understanding of the genre
