Ottoman Turkey:

Everyday Life in Ottoman Turkey Raphaela Lewis, 1988 Raphaela Lewis sketches the history of the Ottoman dynasty and shows how it fell heir to the Eastern Roman Empire and made its capital in the city of Constantine the Great renamed Istanbul. She then describes the administrative structure of the Empire with its extraordinary system of recruitment whereby membership of the civil and military establishment was in principle confined to the Sultan's Christian-born slaves. The dominant faith of the Empire was Islam and there is a full account of its duties and practices which moulded the life of the Turk. The author also takes us inside the great imperial mosques, the thronged and colourful bazaars, schoolrooms, palaces and private houses and takes us down fascinating byways showing how the Sultan's cannon were cast, how children prayed for rain, how the people passed the nights of Ramadan and how important a social occasion for women were the weekly visits to the hammam, the public baths. Lewis has not neglected life in Anatolia and the non-Turkish provinces and she has also provided a glossary of Turkish terms used in the book. Dust jacket

Studies in Pre-Ottoman Turkey and the Ottomans Elizabeth Zachariadou, 2024-12-11 The studies included in the present collection by Elizabeth Zachariadou are concerned with the long period of transition from the Byzantine Empire to its successor the Ottoman Empire. Among the themes covered are the processes of settlement and state formation amongst the nomadic and often superficially Islamized Turks who invaded Asia Minor and the interactions between them and the conquered Christian population including not infrequent intermarriage. Other studies focus on how the Greek Orthodox inhabitants of the old Byzantine territories became centred around their ecclesiastical authorities and the patriarchate and accommodated themselves to their new masters offering particular services notably in economic life and foreign relations and channelling their energies into such fruitful areas as trade and shipping.

The Armenian Massacres in Ottoman Turkey Guenter Lewy, 2005-11-30 Avoiding the sterile was it genocide or not debate, this book will open a new chapter in this contentious controversy and may help achieve a long overdue reconciliation of Armenians and Turks.

History of the Ottoman Empire and Modern Turkey Stanford Jay Shaw, Ezel Kural Shaw, 1976 Empire of the Gazis. The Rise and Decline of the Ottoman Empire 1280-1808 is the first book of the two-volume History of the Ottoman Empire and Modern Turkey. It describes how the Ottoman Turks, a small band of nomadic soldiers, managed to expand their dominions from a small principality in northwestern Anatolia on the borders of the Byzantine Empire into one of the great empires of fifteenth and sixteenth century Europe and Asia, extending from northern Hungary to southern Arabia and from the Crimea across North Africa almost to the Atlantic Ocean. The volume sweeps away the accumulated prejudices of centuries and describes the empire of the sultans as a living, changing society dominated by the small multinational Ottoman ruling class led by the sultan but with a scope of government so narrow that the subjects, Muslim and non-Muslim alike, were left to carry on their own lives, religions and traditions with little outside interference.

Ottoman Turkey, Atatürk, and Muslim South Asia M. Naeem Qureshi, 2014 The book is based on nine articles from various journals over the past several years or appeared in various conference proceedings At least one of them was published as a chapter in an edited work However all of them are based on original archival material or contemporary published sources available in Pakistan India Turkey and Britain The theme of these papers as the title suggests is the South Asian perceptions and responses regarding the political events that unfolded in the background of the dismemberment of the Ottoman Empire and the establishment of the Turkish republic by Mustafa Kemal The book begins with an analysis of the literature on the nineteenth century pan Islam in South Asia and then gradually unfolds its practical expression in the politics of the South Asia while interacting with the Turks in the milieu of British and Allied policies It also tries to explain as to why the South Asians switched their sympathies from the Ottomans to nationalists under Ataturk and how they looked at the process of modernization in Turkey in comparison with the Muslims of Afghanistan and Iran Lastly the book attempts to examine the enduring relevance of pan Islam in the politics of Pakistan and ventures to measure its trajectory in the future
