Our Common Heritage A World History:

Our Common Heritage Daniel Roselle, Fay Metcalf, 1981      Globalization and Global History Barry K. Gills, William Thompson, 2012-11-12 Globalization and Global History argues that globalization is not an exotic and new phenomenon. Instead, it emphasizes that globalization is something that has been with us as long as there have been people who are both interdependent and aware of that fact. Studying globalization from the vantage point of long-term global history permits theoretical and empirical investigation, allowing the authors collected to assess the extent of ongoing transformations and to compare them to earlier iterations. With this historical advantage, the extent of ongoing changes which previously appeared unprecedented can be contrasted to similar episodes in the past. The book is divided into three sections. The first focuses on how globalization has been written about from a historical perspective. The second part advances three different takes on how best to view globalization from a very long-term stance. The final section continues this interpretative thread by examining more narrow aspects of globalization processes, ranging from incorporation processes to systemic disruptions.

Researching Yugoslavia and its Aftermath Branislav Radeljić, Carlos González-Villa, 2021-06-14 In Researching Yugoslavia and its Aftermath a common thread is the author's path through the time and space context in which fieldwork has taken place Accordingly this collection tackles problems that have always existed but have not been dealt with in a single volume In particular it examines a range of methodological questions arising from the contributors shared concerns and thus the obstacles and solutions characterising the relationship between researchers and their objects of study Being an interdisciplinary project this book brings together highly regarded historians sociologists anthropologists political scientists cultural and social theorists as well as experts in architecture and communication studies They share a belief that the awareness of the researcher s own position in fieldwork is a precondition of utmost significance to comprehend the evolution of objects of study and hence to ensure transparency and ultimate credibility of the findings Moreover the contributors come from diverse backgrounds including authors from the former Yugoslavia and others who have made their way to the region after starting their research careers some from universities in the area others from institutions in the Global North Here they explore cross cutting issues such as the repercussions of gender nationality institutional affiliation and the consequences of their entry into the field This is examined in terms of the results of the research and the ethical aspect of the relationship with the object of study as well as the implications of the chosen time framework in the methodological design and the clash between this decision and the interests of the actors studied
