Our Generation Against Nuclear War:

Our Generation Against Nuclear War Dimitrios I. Roussopoulos, 1983 When the first massive disarmament movement emerged a journal bearing the title of this book was founded in 1961 to critically examine the issue of war and peace with all its implications Our Generation Against Nuclear War, 1964 Our Generation, 1981 Nonviolence Mark Kurlansky, 2009-01-21 In this timely highly original and controversial narrative New York Times bestselling author Mark Kurlansky discusses nonviolence as a distinct entity a course of action rather than a mere state of mind Nonviolence can and should be a technique for overcoming social injustice and ending wars he asserts which is why it is the preferred method of those who speak truth to power Nonviolence is a sweeping yet concise history that moves from ancient Hindu times to present day conflicts raging in the Middle East and elsewhere Kurlansky also brings into focus just why nonviolence is a dangerous idea and asks such provocative questions as Is there such a thing as a just war Could nonviolence have worked against even the most evil regimes in history Kurlansky draws from history twenty five provocative lessons on the subject that we can use to effect change today He shows how time and again violence is used to suppress nonviolence and its practitioners Gandhi and Martin Luther King for example that the stated deterrence value of standing national armies and huge weapons arsenals is at best negligible and encouragingly that much of the hard work necessary to begin a movement to end war is already complete It simply needs to be embraced and accelerated Engaging scholarly and brilliantly reasoned Nonviolence is a work that compels readers to look at history in an entirely new way This is not just a manifesto for our times but a trailblazing book whose time has come U.S. Security, Arms Control, and Disarmament, 1965 U.S. Security, Arms Control, and Disarmament 1961-1965 United States. Department of Defense, 1965 U.S. Security, Arms Control, and Disarmament 1961-1965 Harry Moskowitz, Jack Roberts, Army Library (U.S.), 1965 Canada's 1960s Bryan D. Palmer, 2009-01-01 Focusing on the major movements and personalities of the time as well as the lasting influence of the period Canada's 1960s examines the legacy of this rebellious decade's impact on contemporary notions of Canadian identity The Sixties in Canada M. Athena Palaeologu, 2009 An extraordinary work that brings to life the events and trends of the 60s in Canada Serials in Australian Libraries: Social Sciences and Humanities National Library of Australia, 1964 Dissidence Dimitrios I. Roussopoulos, 1992 The last half of the 20th century is unquestionably the first period in human history during which the agenda absorbing our attention has been dominated by one question the survival of the human species This question casts the darkest shadow on all other preoccupations and concerns Slowly at first but quite evidently by the 1960s we became aware that humanity could be exterminated and civilization destroyed if a nuclear war World War III occurred In the last twenty years another threat to our survival as a species again the awareness developed slowly took hold the ecological collapse of the planet Thus the survival of humanity a practical task became for me an all embracing occupation This task however required not only the questioning of the dominant institutions and the society that had put in place a system that was drifting and pushing itself towards nuclear war and ecocide but also the formulation of how these same institutions and society could be renovated as a requirement to reversing this situation Thus difficult theoretical investigations and discussions could not be closed This intellectual task could not however delay an immediate setting off down the road to the survival of the human species To turn back because of the lack of a theoretical basis would mean compromising humanity s future Hence movement became crucial the movement of people wanting change in large groups or small Movement was the condition wherein a dialectic between the practical and a reflection on experience would nourish theory Since the 1960s we can only be impressed at the outpouring of people into movement s The closest observation analysis and interacting with this profound historical process was the rationale for the founding of the journal Our Generation Against Nuclear War later to become Our Generation and for my role as editor organiser

Serials in Microform ,1989 Liberation ,1964 Congressional Record United States. Congress,1982 Anarchy ,1963

Peace Research Reviews ,1970 Alternative Approaches to Peace Research Edward E. Azar,Elbert W. Russell,Hanna Newcombe,Juliet Saltman,Lloyd Jensen,Terry Nardin,Alan G. Newcombe,1971 This issue examines the roles of nations as both conflict managers and parties to conflict
