Turner,2015-11-17 Handbook on Evolution and Society brings together original chapters by prominent scholars who have been instrumental in the revival of evolutionary theorizing and research in the social sciences over the last twenty five years Previously unpublished essays provide up to date critical surveys of recent research and key debates The contributors discuss early challenges posed by sociobiology the rise of evolutionary psychology the more conflicted response of evolutionary sociology to sociobiology and evolutionary psychology Chapters address the application and limitations of Darwinian ideas in the social sciences Prominent authors come from a variety of disciplines in ecology biology primatology psychology sociology and the humanities The most comprehensive resource available this vital collection demonstrates to scholars and students the new ways in which evolutionary approaches ultimately derived from biology are influencing the diverse social sciences and humanities Strategies to Improve Cardiac Arrest Survival Institute of Medicine,Board on Health Sciences Policy,Committee on the Treatment of Cardiac Arrest: Current Status and Future Directions,2015-09-29 Cardiac arrest can strike a seemingly healthy individual of any age race ethnicity or gender at any time in any location often without warning

Cardiac arrest is the third leading cause of death in the United States following cancer and heart disease. Four out of five cardiac arrests occur in the home and more than 90 percent of individuals with cardiac arrest die before reaching the hospital. First and foremost cardiac arrest treatment is a community issue local resources and personnel must provide appropriate high quality care to save the life of a community member. Time between onset of arrest and provision of care is fundamental and shortening this time is one of the best ways to reduce the risk of death and disability from cardiac arrest. Specific actions can be implemented now to decrease this time and recent advances in science could lead to new discoveries in the causes of and treatments for cardiac arrest. However specific barriers must first be addressed. Strategies to Improve Cardiac Arrest Survival examines the complete system of response to cardiac arrest in the United States and identifies opportunities within existing and new treatments strategies and research that promise to improve the survival and recovery of patients. The recommendations of Strategies to Improve Cardiac Arrest Survival provide high priority actions to advance the field as a whole. This report will help citizens government agencies and private industry to improve health outcomes from sudden cardiac arrest across the United States.

Ending the Explosion William G. Hollingsworth, 1996 This book concentrates on the world population crisis not because resolving that crisis is the only step needed toward a future of sustainable well being. Instead it focuses upon how indescribably cruel an enemy of children women and men massive overpopulation would be.

The Resourceful Caregiver National Family Caregivers Association (U.S.), 1996 A comprehensive yellow pages guide for consumers caring or planning to care for a family member with a chronic condition or illness in a home setting. This helpful book lists local and national assistive organizations respite care options pertinent books tapes and videos hotlines and help lines and appropriate products.

Gender and PTSD Rachel Kimerling, Paige Ouimette, Jessica Wolfe, 2002-08-19 Current research and clinical observations suggest pronounced gender based differences in the ways people respond to traumatic events. Most notably women evidence twice the rate of PTSD as men following traumatic exposure. This important volume brings together leading clinical scientists to analyze the current state of knowledge on gender and PTSD. Cogent findings are presented on gender based differences and influences in such areas as trauma exposure risk factors cognitive and physiological processes comorbidity and treatment response. Going beyond simply cataloging gender related data the book explores how the research can guide us in developing more effective clinical services for both women and men. Incorporating cognitive biological physiological and sociocultural perspectives this is an essential sourcebook and text.

Surviving Allison Brittsan, 1994-11 Caring for Yourself While Caring for Others Lawrence M. Brammer, Marian L. Bingea, 1999 A Caregiver's Survival Guide Kay Marshall Strom, 2000 When you are responsible for another person's physical needs your own needs can take a back seat. After caring for her spouse who for ten years suffered from a rare debilitating disease Kay Marshall Strom is able to bring a voice of experience and compassion to this important topic. Finding spiritual support Maintaining balanced relationships Deciding when living at home is no longer possible Working out the finances Understanding the impact on the whole family Dealing with the personal losses Stress

Clarke M. Ivanich,2002 Stress seems to be an affliction common to almost everyone living in the 21st century except perhaps a few inhabitants of some far off islands untouched by modern society But what is it And more importantly what is there we can do about it Some research says we need it but this seems hard to believe Other research no less believable says we don t need it but we can manage it About the only thing about stress that seems certain is that there is a lot of it around and that the less of it that lands on a person the better This book gathers new and important citations from both the journal and the book literature and provides access through author subject and title indexes Subject Guide to Books in Print ,1997

Arizona Attorney ,1997    American Book Publishing Record ,1996    A Woman's Guide to Coping with Disability
,2000 Despite the recent increased interest in women s health little has been written about and for disabled women This outstanding new source meets a genuine need by providing an overview of all aspects of women s lives and how disability affects them as workers homemakers parents and caregivers Necessities such as driving obtaining adequate medical care enjoying recreation and travel as well as personal concerns related to sexuality pregnancy and childbirth are all addressed The guide covers federal laws housing coping with daily activities at home and in the workplace and the most common conditions that disable women arthritis diabetes epilepsy lupus multiple sclerosis osteoporosis and spinal cord injury Each chapter contains a bibliography or sources cited in the text a referral list of organizations and a resource list of books audio and videotapes and vendors of assistive devices Quotes from disabled women illustrate their coping skills and the impact of their conditions on their lives Barbara M Bibel Oakland P L Cal Library Journal    Courage to Care Joanne Parrent,2001 Alzheimer s disease is often referred to as a family disease because of the constant emotional strain it places on family members as they watch their loved ones slowly slip away But for those left with caring for their loved ones the emotional physical and financial toll can be enormous so much so that most caregivers fail to take care of themselves and become depressed ill and unable to continue their role as caregiver Courage to Care A Caregiver s Companion Through the Stages of Alzheimer s helps to ease the burden of those who have accepted this labor of love by providing them with knowledge and coping strategies to make it through each stage of this progressive and complicated disease The book focuses not only on how to deal with the emotional issues associated with the disease but provides specific advice on how to make life easier and more enjoyable for both the loved one and the caregiver    Therapeutic Intervention Uri Rueveni,Ross V.
