Other Minds Anita Avramides, 2000-12-21 How do we know whether there are other minds besides our own The problem of other minds raises many questions which are at the root of all philosophical investigations how it is we know what is the mind and can we be certain about any of our beliefs In this compelling analysis of other minds Anita Avramides traces the question from the Ancient Sceptics through to Descartes Malebranche Locke Berkeley Reid and Wittgenstein The second part of the book explores the views of influential contemporary philosophers such as Strawson Davidson Nagel and Searle Other Minds provides a clear insightful introduction to one of the most important problems in philosophy It will prove invaluable to all students of philosophy

Alec Hyslop, 2013-03-09 This book has been a long time in the making Other issues have taken me away from it from time to extended time But I kept coming back to the problem of other minds It has remained a great issue it is much contested still and it is after all close to us all I like believing that the time taken has deepened my understanding of the problem and how it is to be handled Other people some by disagreeing vehemently have helped greatly I mention in particular Brian Ellis Robert Fox Graeme Marshall Tim Oakley Ray Pinkerton and Robert Young Robert Pargetter argued with me and kept insisting that I write this book John Bigelow Michael Bradley Keith Campbell Frank Jackson and William Lycan assisted by reading an earlier version and providing valued comments Frank Jackson has been specially helpful not just on this topic He can be blamed for initially causing me to take the analogical inference seriously The La Trobe Philosophy Department has been a good place to do philosophy I am grateful to Suzanne Hayster Sandra Paul and Betty Pritchard for struggling at various times with various recalcitrant manuscripts Most particularly I thank Gai Larkin She has seen the project through with considerably more than efficiency

Knowing Other Minds Anita Avramides, Matthew Parrott, 2019-09-05 We all take it for granted that we are typically in a position to know about the thoughts and feelings of other people But we might naturally wonder how we acquire this kind of knowledge Knowing Other Minds brings together ten original chapters written by internationally renowned researchers on questions that arise from our everyday social interaction with others Can we have direct perceptual knowledge of another person's thoughts How do we acquire general conceptions of mental states What lessons can be drawn from experimental work in developmental psychology Are there fundamental differences between the ways in which we acquire knowledge of our own minds and the ways in which we acquire knowledge of someone else's mind What sort of cognitive processing underlies our everyday social understanding How should we best think of the relationship between our complex social life and moral value The chapters in this volume convey a variety of different perspectives and make a number of novel contributions to the existing literature on these questions thereby opening up new avenues of inquiry Furthermore they illustrate how questions in philosophy and questions from empirical cognitive science overlap and mutually inform one another
