

1. Belén de la Cruz: Excellent! OUTSTANDING ANALYSIS OF LESSONS OBSERVED. GREAT USE OF METALANGUAGE.

My observations as regards Practice II, Didactics of ELT revealed how much rich and stimulating need to be a classroom to keep learners engaged. I observe a Fifth Grade (5th A) at Primary School, which has English classes every Tuesday and Friday for 40 minutes, with Juan Pedro, my pedagogical partner. Students are between nine and ten years old and the teacher is Nadina Rodríguez. The first class, what calls my attention was children's enthusiasm about English lesson; the teacher introduced us to the children and they immediately started to sing a Hello Song: Hello teacher, how are you? Then, Juan Pedro and I responded Hello children, fine and you! The teacher encouraged them to ask about our ages, so they started to ask how old are you? And we asked them too.

As they learned in the first unit about how to ask personal information like names and ages. Since that moment, I felt that in every lesson I would learn something new about the teaching learning process.

Regarding the organization, children sit in pairs according to teacher's decision and they have to keep their positions in every subject. Other situation is when in the previous subject, they worked in groups of four and they continue in groups for the next subject, unless the teacher have a different idea for the lesson and decide to reorder the benches. There are many posters on the walls, the students make some of them, and others are posters prepared by teachers. In the school, it is amazing how many students' productions are in the hall, about different issues like Rio Atuel, 25 de Mayo, 9 de Julio, among others. On Tuesdays, students seem relaxed and prepared to work, but on Fridays, as they have English in the last module, they are tired and they arrive so excited after P.E classes that it is hard to control their adrenaline and start working.

Routine during the lesson is very useful; she writes the date on the board, asking children about day, number and month. In addition, she picks an assistant to help her during the class, the material is prepared according to teacher's plans, she brings photocopies to students and she uses visual aids to catch their attention. The activities design include all the macroskills and children respond positively to them, they enjoy pronunciation, saying words after the teacher, listening activities and participating when they check. Some of them are shy but the rest are very extroverted and willing to learn. The school has thirty computers available to work, two projectors and music players, so it is well equipped as regards resources and the Lejano, Shondel J. Nero, 2020-09-18 There is an ideological war of words waging in America one that speaks to a new fundamentalism rising not just within the American public but across other ideologically torn nations around the globe as well At its heart is climate skepticism an ideological watershed that has become a core belief for millions of people despite a large scientific consensus supporting the science of anthropogenic climate change While many scholars have examined the role of lobbyists and conservative think tanks in fueling the climate skepticism movement there has not yet been a systematic analysis of why the narrative itself has resonated so powerfully with the public Pulling from science and technology studies narrative and discourse theory and public policy The Power of Narrative examines the strength of climate skepticism as a story offering a thoughtful analysis and comparison of anti climate science narratives over time and across geographic boundaries This book provides fresh insight into the rhetorical and semantic properties on both sides of the climate change debate that preclude dialogue around climate science and proposes a means for moving beyond ideological entrenchment through language mediation further ethnographic study and research informed teaching The Power of Narrative culminates in the revelation of a parallel between narratives about climate skepticism and those in other issue areas e g gun rights immigration health crises exposing a genetic meta narrative of public distrust and isolation Ultimately The Power of Narrative is not a book about climate change in itself it is instead a book about how our society understands and interacts with science how a social narrative becomes ideology and how we can move beyond personal and political dogma to arrive at a sense of collective rapprochement Christmas Stories, and Other Stories Charles Dickens,1891 Narrative Economics Robert J. Shiller,2020-09 In a world in which internet troll farms attempt to influence foreign elections can we afford to ignore the power of viral stories to affect economies In this groundbreaking book Nobel Prize winning economist and New York Times bestselling author Robert Shiller offers a new way to think about the economy and economic change Using a rich array of historical examples and data Shiller argues that studying popular stories that affect individual and collective economic behavior what he calls narrative economics has the potential to vastly improve our ability to predict prepare for and lessen the damage of financial crises recessions depressions and other major economic events Spread through the public in the form of popular stories ideas can go viral and move markets whether it s the belief that tech stocks can only go up that housing prices never fall or that some firms are too big to fail Whether true or false stories like these transmitted by word of mouth by the news media and increasingly by social media drive the economy by driving our decisions about how and where to invest how much to spend and save and more But despite the obvious importance of such stories most economists have paid little attention to them Narrative Economics sets out to change that by laying the foundation for a way of understanding how stories help propel economic events that have had led to war mass unemployment and increased inequality Plato, and the Other Companions of Sokrates George Grote,1885 The Sources of Luke's Passion-narrative Alfred Morris Perry,1920 Narrative and Critical History of America: Spanish explorations and settlements in America from the fifteenth to the seventeenth century. [c1886 Justin Winsor,1886 Christology in Christian-Muslim Dialogue Rev Fr Dr Robert Afayori,2021-02-11 Understanding the religious beliefs and practices of the other raises hermeneutic questions on the extent to which the dialogical call to openness is related to commitment the meaning of religious identity and whether openness to the beliefs of the other poses a threat to one s religious identity If interreligious learning demands that the interlocutors unite their attitude of commitment and openness how does this occur without the loss of alterity This book addresses these questions within the context of Christian Muslim dialogue on Christology as an exercise in learning a new form of dialogue which leads Christians and Muslims to the discovery of common values such as prayer and submission to God peace and peaceful co existence and solidarity with the poor and marginalised Reflections on Leadership Richard

A. Couto, 2007-04-26 In Reflections on Leadership fifteen prominent leadership scholars pay tribute to James MacGregor Burns's book Leadership a classic in the field of leadership studies. The contributors address the puzzles and anomalies in his work such as the place of values in leadership leadership as a causal factor in change levels of analysis interdisciplinary approaches to the study of leadership the distance of his theory from everyday experience the absence of gender and race and more.

Reasonable Faith for a Post-secular Age William Greenway, 2020 Our global community desperately needs overt awakening to an age of reason and faith. Reasonable Faith for a Post Secular Age meets this need by interpreting faith not in terms of belief in propositions but in terms of living surrender to having been seized by agape for every face including one's own. Virtually all faith traditions from Buddhism to Humanism to Wiccan are rooted in agape and therefore share considerable spiritual and ethical common ground a truth long veiled. In contrast to ethically feckless secular rationality over which a devastating global social Darwinism currently runs roughshod faith qua living surrender to agape grounds moral realism awakens us to love for all creatures and inspires struggles for justice. Inspired by the philosophy of Emmanuel Levinas and Christian spirituality Greenway engages on the one hand intellectuals like Stanley Hauerwas Richard Rorty Gayatri Chakravorty Spivak Jeffery Stout Charles Taylor and Bernard Williams and on the other contemporary debates over consciousness free will evil and metaethics. He details the character of secular rationality's devastating scission from moral reality and clarifies the promise of understanding faith and spirituality in terms of agape.
