Metaphysics In The Twelfth Century:

The Twelfth-century Renewal of Latin Metaphysics Nicola Polloni, 2020 Dominicus Gundissalinus was both a philosopher and a translator he was active in the unique context of Toledo in the second half of the twelfth century a cultural melting pot of Muslims Jews and Christians While he was philosophically trained in the Latin tradition he found answers to the philosophical problems originating from that Latin training in the Arabic tradition of authors and texts which he himself translated Outside the boundaries of specialised knowledge and research this intriguing thinker is unknown this study contributes to the re discovery of Gundissalinus with a philosophical and historical analysis of his metaphysical reflection in order to display its profound originality and pioneering contribution to the course of medieval philosophy

Twelfth-Century Logic and Metaphysics, 2026-01-08 Alberic of Paris was one of the leading philosophers of the 12th century He was the main rival to Peter Abelard and according to John of Salisbury a most fierce opponent of the nominalist school But although he was an important figure in his time Alberic is almost completely unknown today This collection of essays is the first ever dedicated to exploring and contextualizing the views of Alberic and his followers the Albricani It discusses topics such as universals time mereology divine foreknowledge fallacies and modal logic and shows that Alberic was an original thinker in a vibrant intellectual milieu Contributors are Andrew W Arlig Enrico Donato Sten Ebbesen Charles Girard Heine Hansen Peter King John Marenbon Sofia Orsino Boaz Faraday Schuman Caterina Tarlazzi Paul Thom and Wojciech Wci rka Mathematical Theologies David Albertson, 2014 The writings of theologians Thierry of Chartres d 1157 and Nicholas of Cusa d 1464 represent a lost history of momentous encounters between Christianity and Pythagorean ideas before the Renaissance Their robust Christian Neopythagoreanism reconceived the Trinity and the Incarnation within the framework of Greek number theory challenging our contemporary assumptions about the relation of religion and modern science David Albertson surveys the slow formation of theologies of the divine One from the Old Academy through ancient Neoplatonism into the Middle Ages Against this backdrop Thierry of Chartres s writings stand out as the first authentic retrieval of Neopythagoreanism within western Christianity By reading Boethius and Augustine against the grain Thierry reactivated a suppressed potential in ancient Christian traditions that harmonized the divine Word with notions of divine Number Despite achieving fame during his lifetime Thierry s ideas remained well outside the medieval mainstream Three centuries later Nicholas of Cusa rediscovered anonymous fragments of Thierry and his medieval readers and drew on them liberally in his early works Yet tensions among this collection of sources forced Cusanus to reconcile their competing understandings of Word and Number Over several decades Nicholas eventually learned how to articulate traditional Christian doctrines within a fully mathematized cosmology anticipating the situation of modern Christian thought after the seventeenth century Mathematical Theologies skillfully guides readers through the newest scholarship on Pythagoreanism the school of Chartres and Cusanus while revising some of the categories that have separated those fields in the past

Routledge History of Philosophy Volume III John Marenbon, 2003-09-02 The philosophy discussed in this volume constitutes the intellectual and philosophical ideas of the medieval era from Aquinas and Anselm the intellectual philosophy of the Judaic and Arabic traditions the Twelfth Century Renaissance and the philosophical ideas associated with the emergence of the universities This volume provides a broad and scholarly introduction to the major authors and issues involved in the philosophical discourse of the medieval era as well as some original interpretations of the philosophical writings addressed It includes a glossary of technical terms and a chronological table of philosophical and other cultural events

Debating Medieval Natural Law Riccardo Saccenti, 2016-10-15 In Debating Medieval Natural Law A Survey Riccardo Saccenti examines and evaluates the major lines of interpretation of the medieval concepts of natural rights and natural law within the twentieth and early twenty first centuries and explains how the major historiographical interpretations of ius naturale and lex naturalis have changed His bibliographical survey analyzes not only the chronological evolution of various interpretations of natural law but also how they differ in an effort to shed light on the historical debate and on the medieval roots of modern human rights theories Saccenti critically examines the historical analyses of the major historians of medieval political and legal thought while addressing how to further research on the subject His perspective interlaces different disciplinary points of view history of philosophy as well as history of canon and civil law and history of theology By focusing on a variety of disciplines Saccenti creates an opportunity to evaluate each interpretation of medieval lex naturalis in terms of the area it enlightens and within specific cultural contexts His survey is a basis for future studies concerning this topic and will be of interest to scholars of the history of law and more generally of the history of ideas in the twentieth century Bibliographisch repertorium van de wijsbegeerte ,2004 The Miscellaneous and Posthumous Works of Henry Thomas Buckle Henry Thomas Buckle,1885 The Mediaeval Mind Henry Osborn Taylor,1919 Science and Literature in the Middle Ages and the Renaissance P.
