Married To A Computer:

Married to a Computer Herbert I. Kavet, 1993 American Idle Annette Nierobisz, Dana Sawchuk, Dana Sawchuk, Annette Marie Nierobisz, 2025-05-13 In American Idle sociologists Annette Nierobisz and Dana Sawchuk report their findings from interviews with sixty two mostly white collar workers who experienced late career job loss in the wake of the Great Recession Without the benefits of planned retirement or time horizons favorable to recouping their losses these employees experience an array of outcomes from hard falls to soft landings Notably the authors find that when reflecting on the effects of job loss fruitless job searches and the overall experience of unemployment participants regularly called on the frameworks instilled by neoliberalism Invoking neoliberal rhetoric these older Americans deferred to businesses need to prioritize bottom lines accepted the shift toward precarious employment or highlighted the importance of taking initiative and maintaining a positive mindset in the face of structural obstacles Even so participants also recognized the incompatibility between neoliberalism s one size fits all solutions and their own situations this disconnect led them to consider their experiences through competing frameworks and to voice resistance to aspects of neoliberal capitalism Employing a life course sociology perspective to explore older workers precarity in an age of rising economic insecurity Nierobisz and Sawchuk shed light on a new wrinkle in American aging

Situating Sadness Janet M. Stoppard, Linda M. McMullen, 2003-05 Situating Sadness sheds light on the influence of sociocultural factors such as economic distress child bearing or child care difficulties or feelings of powerlessness which may play a significant role and points to the importance of context for understanding women s depression Post-Natal

Depression Paula Nicolson, 2006-06-19 Post Natal Depression challenges the expectation that it is normal to be a happy mother It provides a radical critique of the traditional medical and social science explanations of post natal depression by supplying a systematic feminist psychological analysis of women s experiences following childbirth Paula Nicolson argues that far from it being an abnormal undesirable pathological condition it is a normal healthy response to a series of losses Post Natal Depression makes an important contribution to the psychology of women and feminist research and will be of interest to psychologists social scientists nurses and doctors

African American Children Shirley A. Hill, 1999-06-10 Shifting the focus from intervention with problem populations this book targets the everyday socialization of African American children African American Children is a comprehensive exploration of historical and contemporary patterns of parenting in black families Historically it focuses on how slavery race the racial caste system and the African American culture influenced the ways African Americans parented their children This series of social forces seriously circumscribed the ability of African Americans to conform to the ideologies about the nature of children and the roles of parents that began to evolve in the early 20th century In the context of growing diversity Shirley A Hill examines the work that African American parents do in raising their children and explores general child socialization patterns as well as parenting issues and challenges Providing an analysis of the views philosophies and parenting strategies of parents from a variety of social class backgrounds African American Children combines qualitative and quantitative data collected to examine a broad overview of current theoretical debates about African American families as they relate to child socialization Topics include discipline strategies sexual socialization teen sexuality self esteem redefining physical attractiveness gender roles and the role of the extended family and community This book is an ideal supplemental text for advanced students in child development family studies sociology of the family as well as students in ethnic studies multicultural counseling or gender studies
