Zangwill,2017-12-03 Excerpt from Merely Mary Ann The first time Lancelot saw Mary Ann she was cleaning the steps He avoided treading upon her being kind to animals For the moment she was merely a quadruped whose head was never lifted to the stars Her faded print dress showed like the quivering hide Of some crouching animal There were strange irregular splashes of pink in the hide standing out in bright contrast with the neutral background These were scraps of the original material neatly patched in The cold damp steps gave Lancelot a shudder for the air was raw He passed by the prostrate figure as quickly as he could and hastened to throw him self into the easy chair before the red fire About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works
