P H Newby:

Something to Answer For P. H. Newby, 2012-10-04 P H Newby's seventeenth novel Something to Answer For was assured of a place in literary history when it won the inaugural Booker Prize in 1969. It was 1956 and Townrow was in Port Said of these two facts he is reasonably certain. He had been summoned by the widow of his deceased friend Elie Khoury. She is convinced Elie was murdered but nobody seems to agree with her. What of Leah Strauss the mistress. And of the invading British paratroops. Only an Englishman surely would take for granted that the British would have behaved themselves. In this disorientating world Townrow must reassess the rules by which he has been living his life to wonder whether he too may have something to answer for. Beautifully written, shot through with crisp mordant wit and Newby plays out his narrative with consummate skill. Narrated by the son's friend Tom Passmore it is the story of how after Guy's death he is left to try and explain to Guy's parents how he had come unawares to them to marry the exotic and temperamental Greek girl Renee Passmore. conceives it to be his duty to bring about reconciliation to move them all away from misunderstanding toward forgiveness. But this mission is complicated by the extraordinary attraction that Renee holds for him and the ever surprising Nashes.

This turns out to be Nadia the beautiful Copt installed in Cairo who refuses to answer Raymond's letters however pleading. Faulkes is enlisted to track her down but it is an operation so bizarre and bungled that it will leave all their lives marked. In a deft stylish and intelligent comedy Newby evokes all the mystery farce and splendour of the wartime Egypt that he knew so well. Agents and Witnesses P. H.
