Psychology and Historical Interpretation William McKinley Runyan,1988 What kind of psychology should be used in historical interpretation How should it be used and on what range of historical problems These are some of the basic questions addressed by the distinguished contributors    Happiest Days Jeffrey Richards,1988    Dictionary of Literary Biography. Yearbook : 1982 Ross, Jean W,Zeigler, Lynne C,Ziegfeld, Richard,1983    Off Shore Birgit Braasch,Claudia Müller,2020 The book highlights facets of people s experiences since the 19th century with Atlantic space and the design of their stay on board ships The contributions range from the perspective of pleasure seeking tourists who used ships as a temporary luxurious homes to the perspective of military personnel who perceived the Atlantic Passage as a transition between homeland security and potentially dangerous professional operations the risks of sea voyages even on technically sophisticated ocean liners whose interiors and services often include grand hotels in the metropolises of the late 19th and 20th century were discreetly ignored by the passengers The charm of the Atlantic and the ship unthinkable in earlier times should not be decimated in any way    Extraordinary Lives: The Art and Craft of American Biography William Zinsser,2016-01-15 Here six eminent biographers explain the pleasures and problems of their craft of reconstructing other people's lives The result is a book rich in anecdote and in surprising new information about a variety of famous Americans David McCullough takes us along on the exhilarating journey to Missouri to find The Unexpected Harry Truman Richard B Sewall describes his twenty year search for the elusive poet Emily Dickinson Paul C Nagel tells us about The Adams Women four generations of women he came to admire while writing his earlier biography of the Adams family Ronald Steel author of a much honored biography of the nation's greatest journalist recalls in Living with Walter Lippman how the life of the biographer can become entwined with that of his subject Jean Strouse on the trail of J P Morgan discusses the fact that there are two reasons why a man does anything a good reason and a real reason Robert A Caro reveals the frustrations of trying to unearth the true facts about Lyndon Johnson a man who went to great pains to conceal them Together these six biographers take us through a gallery of unique American lives most of them moving many of them startling and all of them extraordinary
