Modeling Russia's Economy in Transition Peter Wehrheim,2003 Peter Wehrheim analyses the economy wide effects of various trade and economic policies that have affected Russia s transition from a planned economy to a market economy in the past decade    Modeling Economic Growth in Contemporary Russia Bruno S. Sergi,2019-05-23 Russia is one of the world s largest growing economies With this exciting new growth and development there is a wealth of knowledge to be discovered from the strategies and models being used and created throughout Russia s economy    Alternative Political

Economy Models of Transition John Marangos,2017-07-05 The collapse of centrally administered socialism in Russia and Eastern Europe resulted in what is commonly referred to as the transition problem the transformation from a centrally administered socialist economic system to one that is market based Economic science has been faced with the challenge of developing an appropriate body of analysis advice and direction to help other nations that may be undergoing this process In this volume John Marangos adopts a political economy approach that yields alternative models of transition The volume develops transition models from what Marangos defines as the primary elements of six variables 1 economic analysis 2 definitions of the Good Society 3 speed of transition 4 political structure 5 ideological structure and 6 initial conditions The models developed include the shock therapy model the neoclassical gradualist model of transition the post Keynesian model the pluralistic market the socialist model and the non pluralistic market socialist model After identifying the primary elements of each transition model Marangos considers the elements of each model with respect to the desirable reforms An essential element of the transition process is not only to identify the necessary reforms but also a sequence in which the reforms should be introduced For each transition model developed in this book a set of primary and secondary elements were provided in conjunction with a sequence of reforms Analyzing the transition problem from a political economy perspective Marangos shows that it is possible to have inconsistencies within each transition model and between transition models yet be able to identify the potential for implementation and maintenance of necessary reforms each model recommends This volume contributes to the understanding of the process of transition with the objective of identifying an optimal model of transition

Education in the Structure of the Social and Investment Model of Economic Growth: Scenarios of Development and Mechanisms of Management Elena G. Popkova,2024-08-12 The importance of the formation of a socially oriented market economy grew due to the adoption of the global goals in the sphere of sustainable development For practical implementation of this idea in the modern economic systems there s a necessity for a new social and investment model of economic growth The essence and the main difference of this model from the traditional model of economic growth are the sources of growth are social investments investments in humans and an increase in the population s quality of life

The Economics of Growth in Russia Ararat L. Osipian,2023-05-17 This book presents theoretical and empirical investigation of economic growth in Russia The sharp decline in the national production that Russia endured in the 1990s linked directly to the exhausting and ill planned transition from the planned economy to the market economy resulted in Russia plunging into the poverty trap The goal of this book is to determine whether and how Russia manages to overcome the poverty trap and initiate and sustain economic growth This book fills the gap between the volatile economic growth as an objective economic reality of Russia and the lack of scholarly literature on the issue This study identifies the place and role of foreign aid in economic growth in the market type post transitional Russian economy and concludes that foreign aid does not play any significant role in the national economy contrary to what would follow from the classical poverty trap theory considered reviewed applied and tested in this study Development economists should not overestimate the role of foreign aid in overcoming the poverty trap in those developing economic systems that are currently not in equilibrium and only move toward their steady state The book will be of interest to those who want to learn more about specific problems in Russia s newly built capitalism the country s perspectives and its current semi peripheral status The book will also be an excellent supplement for students in Russian studies programs as well as for investors who want to do business in Russia and try to understand the country s domestic economic conditions and processes Studies on Russian Economic Development ,2006

Economic Reforms and Capital Markets in Central Europe Ken Morita,2017-11-30 Is the economic reform of Central Europe influenced by or an influence upon capital markets Where does globalization fit in Ken Morita s pioneering work investigates the relationship between the systemic transition of Central European economies and capital markets in particular the commodity futures markets and speculation The Russian Enterprise in Transition Simon Clarke,1996

Together the reports cover five enterprises which provide a cross section of different types of former state enterprises over the period of reform Two of the enterprises covered were among the pioneers of privatization two were flagships of the military industrial sector which had to respond to the collapse of their traditional markets and the fifth was a passenger transport enterprise which remains in state control

Emerging Economies and the Transformation of International Business Subhash Chandra Jain,2006 The economic power of Brazil Russia India and China BRICs is rapidly increasing changing the landscape of global economics and politics Top scholars of international business address in this vital volume the markets strategy implications challenges and possibilities of this new economic reality As these four nations acquire greater economic clout the opportunities for other countries increase The contributors describe the favorable circumstances these evolving economies could provide for the US and other countries such as expanded markets and services higher returns on investments and new partners in building a more peaceful and prosperous world In contrast they also discuss risks to traditional industries and possible challenges to positions on human rights and intellectual property protections environmental standards free markets and democratic governments The volume emphasizes the need for companies to adopt strategies to stay ahead in the changing business environment Governments must also design and implement new policies geared toward mutually beneficial relationships with BRICs This enlightening study will be of great interest to students and scholars of international business Executives of large companies will find it of great practical use when planning their organization's future strategies Transitions to Capitalism and Democracy in Russia and Central Europe M. Donald Hancock, John Logue, 2000-04-30 Hancock and Logue along with their contributors seek to explicate the achievements problems and prospects of simultaneous processes of economic and political transitions from communism to contrasting forms of market economies and democracy in Russia Poland the Czech Republic Hungary Slovenia and eastern Germany Contributors include 14 American and European scholars with intimate professional and personal familiarity with the various case studies The contributors draw on process analysis and transition theory to explore different national approaches to privatization This includes individual voucher schemes the use of investment funds the direct sale of former state owned enterprises employee buy outs direct foreign investments and their consequences for parallel processes of marketization and democratization A quarter of the volume is devoted to comparative analyses of contrasting modes of privatization the role of public opinion and law in the transition process and the international economic and political context of postcommunist transformation An important analysis for scholars students and other researchers involved with postcommunist economic and political change

Water in Agriculture Australian Centre for International Agricultural Research, 2004 The availability of water and water quality are major concerns for everyone Agriculture is the largest consumer of water As the world's population increases how do we increase food production with limited water and land resources These proceedings cover the papers presented at the CARDI International Conference Research on Water in Agricultural Production in Asia for the 21st Century held in Phnom Penh Cambodia in November 2003

Transition and Regional Inequality in Russia Ms. Irina Dolinskaya, Irina Tytell, 2002-10 This paper analyzes the evolution of interregional income inequality during transition in Russia The transition matrix approach reveals that between 1991 and 1997 income mobility tended toward a highly uneven long term distribution with the majority of regions at low income levels and a minority of higher income regions in sharp contrast to pretransition times The ordered logit analysis suggests that the more successful regions prospered on account of their natural resources while continuing to resist economic reorganization by supporting traditional enterprises The less successful regions appeared trapped at low income levels due to uncompetitive industries and lack of resources needed for restructuring

Modelling Russia's Economy in Transition Peter Wehrheim, 2017-12-15 This book was published in 2003 This text analyses the economy wide effects of various trade and economic policies that have affected Russia's transition from plan to market in the past decade The issues discussed relate to the allocative effects of macro economic reforms exchange rate alterations or reforms in the agro food sector which have affected Russia's economy in transition To facilitate the analysis an economy wide model of Russia's economy is developed The model is a computable general equilibrium model and as such is the economist's version of a laboratory in which it is possible to conduct policy experiments Due to the transitory stage of the Russian economy the model is different from other such models for industrialized countries

It takes into account some specific circumstances of the transition process which are elaborated in detail parts of the informal or hidden economy are represented market imperfections which are the result of institutional constraints are taken into consideration as are structural rigidities such as immobile capital and disequilibria in labour markets
