Man, God, and Civilization John G. Jackson,1990 Neandertals and Modern Humans in Western Asia Takeru Akazawa, Kenichi Aoki, Ofer Bar-Yosef, 2005-12-27 In this fascinating volume the Middle Paleolithic archaeology of the Middle East is brought to the current debate on the origins of modern humans. These collected papers gather the most up to date archaeological discoveries of Western Asia a region that is often overshadowed by African or European findings but the only region in the world where both Neandertal and early modern human fossils have been found. The collection includes reports on such well known cave sites as Kebara Hayonim and Qafzeh among others. The Antiquity of Man Sir Arthur Keith,1920 Francesco Petrarca, the First Modern Man of Letters Edward Henry Ralph Tatham,1926 World History and the Eonic Effect John C. Landon,2010-04-27 At a time when theories of evolution are undergoing renewed controversy the study of the Eonic Effect can break the deadlock by looking at world history in the light of evolution. The assumption that evolution occurs at random is the crux of the dispute and one confused with issues of religion and secularism. We can detect a non random pattern in the record of civilization itself to see evolution in action on a stupendous scale. We live in the first generations with enough data to detect this phenomenon. In the confusion of evolutionary theories the unexpected discovery of deep level structure can allow us to deconstruct flat history and assess claims of directionality in evolution. In the process the theory of natural selection applied to human evolution is seen to fail a photo finish test. The book provides a new model for the study of the overlap of history and evolution and a critique of current views of the descent of man The Modern Review Ramananda Chatterjee,1912 Includes section Reviews and notices of books Man's Many Ways Richard A.
