Modern Obstetrics In General Practice:

Modern Obstetrics in General Practice Geoffrey Norman Marsh,1985 There is increasing dissatisfaction among both specialists and patients with hospital based antenatal care and a recurrent finding in lay comments about obstetric care has been satisfaction with general practice and midwife involvement General practitioners themselves are beginning to realize that the antenatal and postnatal period of a woman's life is very central to their role as family doctors Two recent reports in the UK have concluded that specialist antenatal and postnatal care should on the whole be concentrated on high risk patients and that the vast majority of care could and should be done by community based primary health care teams Thus all general practitioners need to update and reassess their antenatal puerperal and postnatal care Both reports recommended greater use of existing general practice delivery facilities and that all specialist units should provide facilities for general practitioners to look after their own patients in labour The general practitioner emphasis must be on normalizing obstetrics where possible and most importantly responding to the women's requests and suggestions This book will fire the enthusiasm of all GPs with an interest in obstetrics There are contributions from many disciplines including GPs specialists health visitors and midwives
